

A Closer Look at the County Building Suit

By GEORGE COLBURN

A Lafayette resident's taxpayer suit charging the county with "subterfuge" in going ahead with construction of a new 12-story administration building has brought attention to the fact that county residents are getting a building they did not want in 1958.

Anthony C. Lagiss, a real estate broker, in his suit claims that the county's lease with option to purchase agreement with County Retirement Board, "was not done in good faith but was done as a subterfuge to enable the county to purchase and acquire the administration building and additions."

In the regular election of November 4, 1958, Contra Costa County voters turned down a county bond "for the purpose of constructing an addition to the Contra Costa County Administration Building at Martinez."

The bond was for $1 million. The contract under which the James E. Roberts Company of Oakland is constructing the addition is for $2,864,600.

VOTERS IN 1958 turned down the $1 million bond by a 76,546 to 46,579 margin. Whereas the measure did not even gain a simple majority to be approved.

Lagiss claims that the county's method of financing the project is a violation of the State Constitution (Article 11, Section 18) which states that "no county shall incur any indebtedness or liability in any manner or for any purpose exceeding in any year the income and revenue provided for such year without the assent of two-thirds of the qualified electors..."

Whether Lagiss will win the suit is very much in doubt.

On June 28, Superior Court Judge Homer W. Patterson sustained the county's demer in the suit. However he gave Lagiss until July 18 to file an amended complaint—which was filed last Tuesday.

In April, when Lagiss first filed his suit, he told The Sun that the taxpayers of this county were getting the building "crammed down their throats." He pointed out that "the need of the building has not been justified to the people of the county... and the county is going ahead with plans without the consent of the taxpayers who must pay the bill."

LAGISS said he was prompted to take the matter into his own hands "to return some degree of fiscal responsibility to the taxpayers in spending policies of our elective and appointed officials."

In the suit, Lagiss has retained Harlow P. Rother, a San Francisco lawyer of the Cushing, Cullinan, Hancock and Rother firm. Rother also is handling two suits against Alameda County for lease-purchase agreements. They are scheduled for argument September 14 in the State District Court of Appeals, San Francisco.

The County Retirement Board is footing the bill to construct the 12-story addition (it will be the tallest building in the county). The county will pay rent for 25 years and be able to purchase the building at the end of the period for $1. The contract signed by the board and supervisors last fall returns the retirement group five per cent on its investment and guarantee a full five per cent interest if the county purchased the building ahead of the 25-year lease schedule.

Lagiss claims that a bond measure would only mean 3 1/2 or four per cent interest on the "loan."

Lagiss notified the supervisors of his intention to sue just prior to the opening of bids for the additions. However, the supervisors decided to go ahead with the project and bids were opened May 1. Roberts firm submitted the low bid and on May 9 was awarded the $2.8 million contract.

DISTRICT Attorney John Nejedly told The Sun that at the time the suit was filed, he advised the supervisors that they were "legally justified in proceeding... if they so desired."

He had no other comment, but did reveal that Contra Costa County had filed a brief along with Alameda County in the suit against its lease-purchase agreement along with several other Northern California counties.

Lagiss has asked repeatedly "if the supervisors are on such

Economy 'Reason' For Closing of Sheriff Station

By BERNICE SCHARLACH

The closing of the Lafayette substation of the sheriff's office was done from both an economy and efficiency standpoint, according to Undersheriff Harry Ramsey.

"Taxpayers will save more than $1000 and at the same time get better emergency service."

"With centralization of the sheriff's office, and the addition of our modern electronic equipment, we can now blanket the entire county with an umbrella of static free radio communications."

BUT SUPERVISOR Mel Nielsen is somewhat less enthusiastic.

"It remains to be seen," he said, "whether the economy we affect will be worth the loss in respect to service to the people."

Area residents wishing to report a police emergency, can call two toll-free trunk lines reaching the sheriff's office in Martinez.

These numbers are 254-2474 in Orinda, or 935-2474 in the Lafayette area.

ACCORDING TO Ramsey, these calls are then dispatched radio to the units in the field.

At the present time, the four units assigned to the Lafayette substation are now working out of the Lafayette corporation yard. Deputies pick up their cars and their orders at that point and go on duty and on the air the moment their eight-hour shift begins.

But Nielsen says that it is his understanding that even this pick-up point will soon be abandoned. The men will then have to go to Martinez to pick up their orders and report back at the end of their shift.

"Unquestionably, we will be losing patrol time. Eight hour shifts will be reduced by the amount of time the deputy must travel back and forth and the time he must spend phoning in his reports during the shift and filling out papers at the completion of his shift."

"WE SHALL BE watching very carefully to see that the patrol hours for our area are kept up," said Nielsen. "We need men in the field at all times."

Keeping men in the field as much of the time as possible is the basic philosophy behind the move to centralize the sheriff's office, Ramsey pointed out.

Explaining something of the history of the department, he said, "originally, the department was made up of area officers and we deputies worked from our homes and our cars some 10 to 12 hours a day and on night emergencies when called."

"The next step was to shift coverage. Each man worked an eight-hour shift around the clock. Then we brought our cars to a central storage place in each area instead of taking them home with us."

"THIS LED to centralization under Sheriff Harry Brown. Martinez became the central headquarters. This affected particularly the eastern and western ends of the county. Lt. Wilson, then an inspector, worked out of Martinez, you remember."

It was in 1953 that the substation setup was organized. A store was leased in Walnut Creek for operations for the western area. Later, in 1956, when the Lafayette building was completed, the office leased space and moved there.

"The substation was first a 24-hour facility, a small replica of the large department. We found it took 4.8 clerical people to duplicate the work done in the Martinez office at a substation. It just wasn't practical to hire 15 clerks to work 5 days a week on eight-hour shifts."

"So the substations were put on an eight-to-five basis. But the emergencies just didn't observe the time limitations. Things always seemed to happen during the hours the stations were closed and people became very annoyed with the service."

THE NEXT STEP, according to Ramsey, was the establishment of a toll-free Enterprise number, in 1958, just prior to Sheriff Young's election. This resulted in confusion, because the substations' numbers were still listed. People used the Enterprise number whenever they wanted toll-free calls to other county offices. It proved to be expensive for the sheriff's office.

The new sheriff finally removed the substation numbers from the telephone directories.

The new trunk line arrangement was worked out with the Pacific Telephone Company. Seven lines from all parts of the county converge in Martinez. They are picked up on static-free microwave adapters that Ramsey calls "one of the most modern systems in the state."

Three relay stations are located on top of mountains in the county. The calls are relayed from the transmitters in Martinez to the microwave on the mountain nearest the patrol unit, amplified static-free.

HOW WILL deputies operate under the new system?

The officer picks up his car and his orders at the corporation yard in Lafayette. He goes on the air immediately. He carries a telephone credit card. After he answers a radio call, he phones in his report from the nearest phone.

His call is picked up on a recording system and transcribed by a clerk on snap-out forms.

One form goes to the investigation units, one to files, one to the district attorney if it necessary, etc.

How is the deputy supervised? RAMSEY SAYS there is a patrol sergeant assigned to each shift in the field. He monitors the calls, supervises in the field and checks the daily report sheets turned in by deputies.

The miles, the details, the time and other factors are all computed by IBM machines at central service and checked on by sergeants.

"While it may be argued that this is a rather impersonal arrangement, we believe that offices allow the fellows to have a loitering space. We want them to have as much time in the field doing their work as possible," Ramsey concluded.

At the present time, there are two substations left in operation, one in Oakley, and one in Richmond.

People vs. Apts.

"A tremendously controversial issue" is the way the County Planning Commission described the issues which now confront them with the Moraga General Plan, including zoning for a $6-million condominium.

Tuesday, August 7, will be a night for decisions for the commission at the Hall of Records, Martinez, at 8 p.m. Number one on the agenda will be the Moraga General Plan. Number two will be the condominium.

THE HEARING, while open to the public, will not be open for discussion.

Tuesday, the planners had a special study session to go over Alternate Plan A and Plan B as submitted by a special 13-man study group, headed by planner Boone Robinson.

Although the group has worked on the proposed changes of the plan for two years, Plan A has met with stiff opposition from the residents of the community because it contains a multiple zoning parcel adjacent to Miramonte High School.

This is the site where Duffel-Smoot Companies propose to build their 303-unit condominium.

PLAN A would substitute about 100 acres for a "technological research facility," instead of the previous 200 acres of controlled manufacturing. It would allow about 25 acres of multiples.

Alternate Plan B calls for single residential zoning of medium density.

Residents of the area have expressed their preference for Plan B, or Plan A minus the multiple zoning.

Utah Construction Company, which owns the majority of undeveloped land in the plan, has stated it would not settle for anything except Plan A "without a fight."

REPRESENTATIVES of civic groups in the Orinda-Moraga area sat-in at the closed study session. They described their presence as "a silent demonstration" against the condominium.

These groups filed with the planners a petition, signed by several hundred members of the community, opposing the condominium.

Warren Merrill, president of the Ranchitos, the homeowners' association which formulated the petition, stated that they objected to the condominium on four grounds: high density; traffic; decrease in property valuation; and the lack of need for this type of development.

Peter Stark, Orinda pharmacist, spokesman for the Ranchitos, did not make a planned protest before the planners at the public hearing on the condominium on July 10.

At that time, the Moraga General Plan preceded it on the agenda.

When no decision was reached on the plan, Joe Smoot of Duffel-Smoot Companies stated that while his company agreed with the study group's recommendation of Plan A, they understood that the planners would want to go over the plan before reaching a decision on the condominium application.

"THE OPEN meeting was closed with such suddenness, that we, being inexperienced in such procedure, didn't make our presentation," said Stark.

The petition was not included in the material which the planners went over during the study session. According to the staff, it has a ruling that no material can be submitted from the public after the hearing is closed.

The district attorney's office concurred with this ruling.

THE HOMEOWNERS' petition and protests will be forwarded to the County Board of Supervisors.

The condominium plans weren't discussed at Tuesday's study session as it was again brought out by the planners that "it is not essential in deciding a zoning change, because the applicant would not be bound by a site plan."

The homeowners are organizing a "Postcard Protest", according to Stark, to get people in the area to write to the board of supervisors and the planning commission, Martinez, "so that they remain aware of our continued interest in this problem."

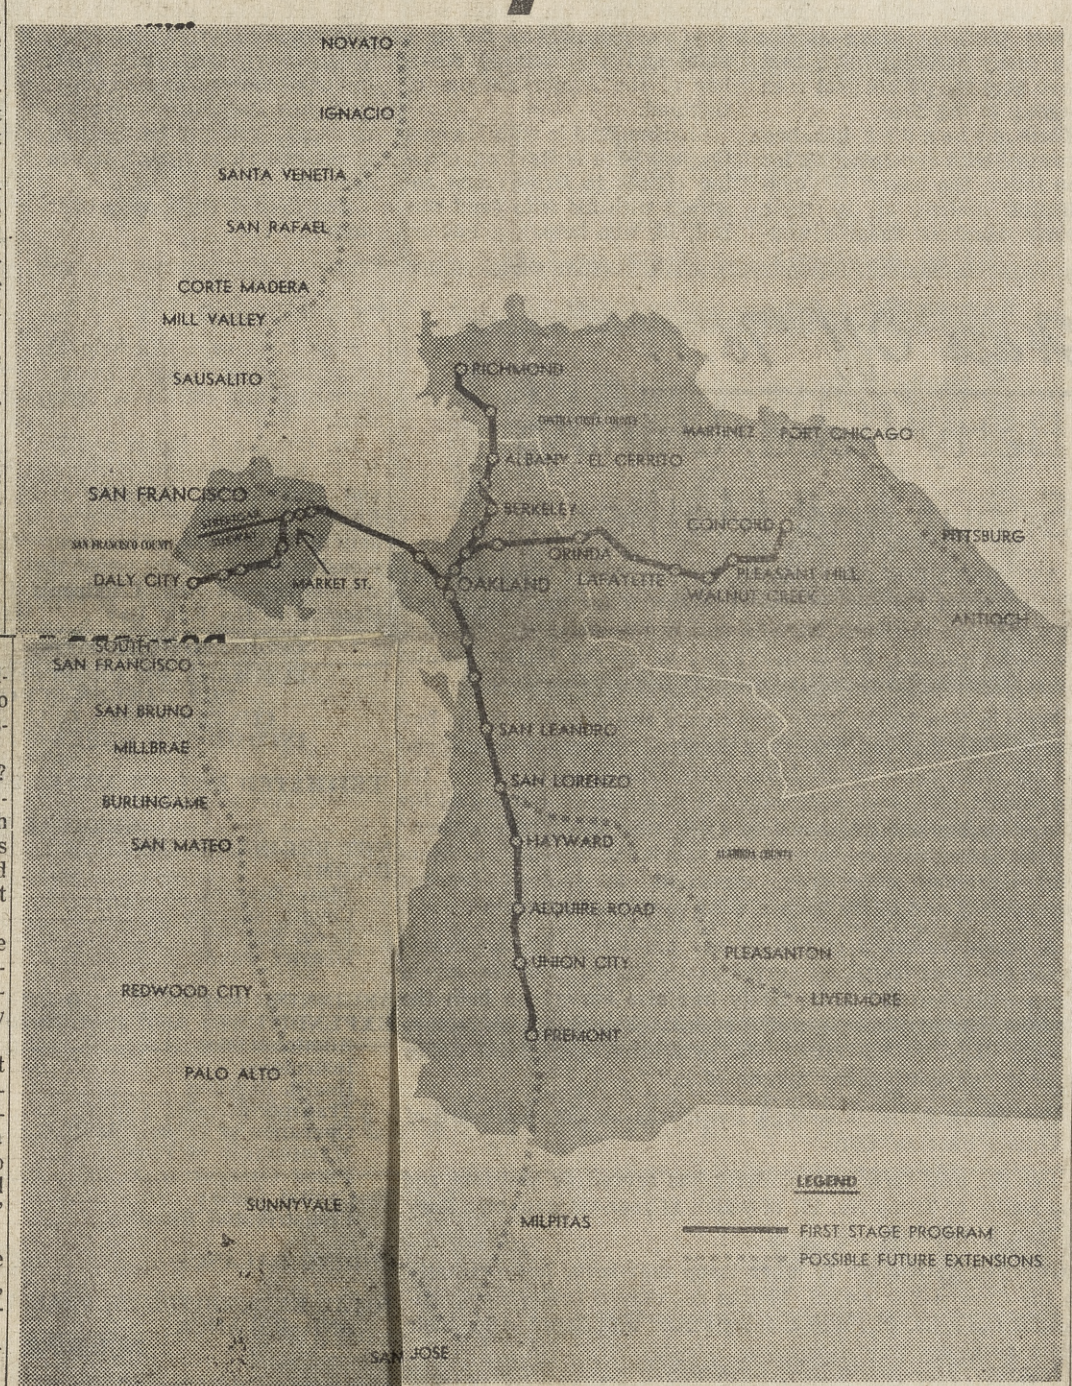

A telegram from the Orinda Association was prominently displayed at the study session.

It stated that they opposed that part of the plan which calls for multiple in the established residential community "consistent with our past policy."

Transit Opposition Unorganized As County Cinches Fall Vote

FIRST STAGE PROGRAM FOR BAY AREA RAPID TRANSIT This is what the voters will decide in November

$792 Million Could Be Squandered, Says Nielsen

Rapid Transit will go on the ballot in November with no apparent organized opposition despite a slim 3-2 vote by the Contra Costa County supervisors which made the whole thing possible.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen, who cast one of the two negative votes Tuesday afternoon, declared the county had lost its bargaining position to prevent any squandering of the $792 million which would be authorized if the measure carries at the general election.

But Nielsen said he would not lead an opposition attack on the proposition. He mentioned several individuals who were strongly against the huge expenditure but apparently none of them would take the lead in battling it.

ADRIEN J. FALK, president of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, admitted that elements in Danville, El Cerrito and Pittsburg had come out against the plan but pointed out that nothing in the way of negative organization had been announced.

Supervisor Joe Silva was the man to cast the deciding affirmative vote and put Contra Costa in line with San Francisco and Alameda Counties which had already approved BARTD going on the ballot.

Silva, who had asserted earlier that his (the fifth) district would not benefit from rapid transit, explained his vote in favor of the plan by declaring:

"I am voting on rapid transit as a representative of all of the 425,000 residents of Contra Costa County and not just my district."

The fifth district supervisor had been under considerable pressure since he indicated his position "on the fence" a week ago.

GOVERNOR BROWN joined with the mayors of San Francisco and Oakland in asking Silva to vote in the affirmative. The two mayors even held a conference in Martinez with Silva in their effort to convince him.

Falk was generous in his thanks for the action of all three counties. Wednesday he issued the following statement to the press:

"The action of the boards of supervisors of Contra Costa, San Francisco and Alameda counties in approving the rapid transit plan is most gratifying to those of us who have worked many years planning the best possible rapid transit system."

"We are deeply in debt to the county officials, including of course, the Contra Costa supervisors for making possible rapid transit as a reality. Their action assured the citizens of the Bay Area the opportunity of making their own decision concerning the rapid transit program in November."

"There will be ample time between now and November 6 for a full discussion of every aspect of the rapid transit plan and I am personally confident that the voters will give their approval of the measure in November."

IN A DRAMATIC scene at the courthouse in Martinez Tuesday afternoon, while a capacity crowd looked on, Supervisor Edmund Linscheid moved to send the plan back for further study. Nielsen concurred but the other three supervisors rejected the proposal.

Then came the motion by Supervisor James Kenny, seconded by Chairman Tom Coll, endorsing the BARTD proposition's be-

No Pressure, No Remember!

"Kaffee Klatch pressure" put on Supervisor Joe Silva by San Francisco's Mayor Christopher and Oakland's Mayor Houtihan to swing his vote in favor of Rapid Transit were derided by a fellow-supervisor, Mel Nielsen.

"Mayor Christopher kept inviting me to have lunch with him and I refused, although I've attended a couple of dozen dinners with him before," Nielsen pointed out.

"Tuesday night, after the board voted in favor of rapid transit, I went to dinner in San Francisco and it happened that Mayor Christopher and his wife took the table opposite us."

"What happened? The pressure was off and he didn't even recognize me!"

ing placed on the ballot. Nielsen and Linscheid voted against it.

Silva then tipped the balance in favor of the transit plan with his "yes" vote and explained afterwards:

"With places in San Francisco and Alameda Counties that will not be served, I wonder how they are going to vote for the bonds."

NIelsen CONTINUED to point out the imbalance in future actions by the district with San Francisco and Alameda Counties having a total of 880,587 voters compared to 190,581 in Contra Costa County.

"This is no plan, really," Nielsen declared, adding, "this is just something to keep the district together and give a group of men a chance to spend the money as they damned well please."

Nielsen declared the action by the Contra Costa Supervisors removed all restrictions on the BARTD, when he asserted:

"THE SUPERVISORS have lost control. Now the officials of BARTD can tell us to go plumb to—"

Nielsen admitted that Orinda and Lafayette, in his district, will be served by rapid transit but asked:

"What about Crockett, Danville, Alamo, San Ramon and Tassajara?"

B. R. Stokes, director of information for BARTD, admitted a great deal of jubilation had taken over the office there after the Contra Costa County Supervisors removed the final stumbling block with their vote.

Happy is the Bride

WHEN THIS pre-wedding portrait of the Charles Reid family was made last Saturday, they were caught in the midst of wedding preparations but took time out to admire a pretty piece of silver among the many wedding gifts that have kept the parcel post man coming to the door.

Their calendar has been crowded with appointments for the tailor, the baker, the candlestick maker, all so their pretty daughter Susan's wedding would come off smoothly last Sunday. As it did.

MOTHER of the bride in this family is the well-known Emmarie Reid, former publisher of Diablo View magazine, a native Texan who speaks with a dynamic drawl, an author of note, and a sustaining member of the Junior League of Oakland.

Charles Reid is with his own Cappel, Pera & Reid advertising offices in Orinda and together with his wife (and son Bill, 16, who helps), a Pacific Coast dealer for the Rawson-30 cruising-racing sloops.

For Susan's wedding to Ron Larsen of Orinda, her sister April, aged 7, sprinkled petals as flower girl while brother Bill did usher duties at the Community Church ceremony. When interviewed, Mrs. Reid, in her exuberant Texas twang, said her biggest accomplishment was going to be "getting to the church on time." Which she did.

And they lived happily ever after. . .

Hats Off To...

Betty Reed, Shining Scout and Mother...

AN ARMFUL of roses, please, for Mrs. Betty Reed who has actively served the Girl Scouts of America for the past fifteen years and who achieved, back in her own scouting days in Oakland and Piedmont, the highest honor of Golden Eaglet, similar to the Eagle Scout award for the Boy Scouts.

Born in New York, Betty was raised and schooled in the bay area, won her nursing degree at Stanford University where she also did three years of graduate work. During college days, the experienced Girl Scout contributed to scouting by counseling the younger scouts and continued to work with the "little women" in many capacities for the program which she considers a "wonderful enriching experience, especially in that it teaches responsibility and offers such a wide variety of interests. . ."

A recent recipient of the 15-year pin award by the Diablo Council on whose board she serves as a delegate from the Orinda Village Neighborhood area, Betty has also served on both the boards of Orinda School and Parents' Club and Pine Grove Parents' Club. On the latter, she performed secretarial duties last year "enjoying every minute of it."

Her husband, the late Hugh Reed, was also on the board of the Orinda Parents' Club.

For the past three years, Betty has served as assistant and troop leader of Troop No. 107 of which 14-year-old daughter Rory has been a member.

Together with some 17 other troop members, Rory recently won the Curved Bar award. This is not only a real accomplishment for the girls, who'll now enter senior scouting, but for their leaders as well.

A FAMILIAR face around town with her handsome children in tow, Betty helps in the Park Pool canteen, serving up popsicles while her children swim nearby, keeps a happy house for them on El Dorado Lane where the family has lived for the past 12 years.

Besides Rory, who has industriously earned enough money to fly to NY for a summer visit with friends, the children are Nancy, 11½, Tom, 8, and Peggy, 6.

They can all well be proud of their mother, as are we, for without dedicated women like Betty Reed, there would virtually be no Scout program.

"Orinda Value Days" will start a week from Wednesday. For four days, August 8-9-10-11, merchants will feature special buys.

Housewives should be on the alert for this early back-to-school sale, and avoid the rush of waiting until the last minute, according to Ed Amatron, manager of Sprouse-Reitz Variety Store, and president of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce.

THE CHAMBER is backing the merchants on this promotion.

All members and persons who receive the Orinda Chamber of Commerce Bulletin will be notified of this special sale, according to Clarence Betz, secretary of the chamber.

The bulletin will be mailed to all chamber members August 9, a week in advance of the regular meeting.

"The merchants of Orinda should plan sales of this type where residents of Orinda and the surrounding community can benefit," said Betz.

Shoppers are urged to watch for the announcement of specials in The Sun Shopping News on Wednesday, August 8, and in the Orinda Sun on Friday, August 10.

"SAVE YOURSELF all of the irritation of hunting for a shopping place. There are no meters to please in Orinda," said John Ogden, owner of Ogden's, Inc. in the Orinda Plaza Shopping Center.

Frank Amerio Transferred

Assistant cashier Frank Amerio, of Orinda, with 34 years experience in banking, real estate and the home building field, was recently transferred to Central Valley National Bank's real estate loan department.

Amerio was in banking for 18 years in Oakland before entering the real estate and home building field. He is a licensed building contractor and came to Central Valley Bank recently.

Active in Oakland civic and fraternal affairs, Amerio is holder of the Oakland Junior Chamber of Commerce "Key Man Award" for distinguished service to the community.

He has been a member of the board of governors of the American Institute of Banking and completed 16 AIB self-improvement courses.

A native Oaklander, Amerio lives at No. 5 Lavenida, with his wife, Donna, and son, Ben, 7.

Caldecott Tunnel

Work was completed Wednesday on the lighting system in the two existing bores of the Caldecott Tunnel.

Jimmy Talks to Mynah Bird--Is Locked in Shop

The Orinda Pet Shop, 228 Brookwood Road, may have to sound an alarm at closing time, according to Mrs. Robert Benedict, owner.

Tuesday night, 10-year-old Jimmy Williams, of Orinda, engaged in a conversation with Cupid the Mynah bird, failed to notice that Mr. and Mrs. Benedict were closing the store for the night.

Jimmy soon noticed his plight and phoned his mother. She, in turn, called the Orinda Fire Department.

Notified by Orinda firemen of the situation the Benedicts drove back to Orinda and unlocked the store.

Mrs. Benedict said that she and her husband will have to devise some sort of warning system to notify young customers of closing time.

Recently, she said, two little girls watching the fish tanks, were almost locked in the store.

Sun Award Here

Details of the recent promotional first prize won by The Sun, under the direction of its publisher, Herman Silverman, called attention to the wealth and prosperity of the surrounding area, published the complete account in its monthly magazine.

Along with the citation and plaque went an advisory to all other weekly newspapers of the nation, suggesting that they follow The Sun's lead in demonstrating its acceptance by the community.

The NEA particularly pointed to the example of a huge brochure in which The Sun, under the direction of its publisher, Herman Silverman, called attention to the wealth and prosperity of the surrounding area, along with its vast retail trade zone.

THIS LATEST honor captured by The Sun was based on a series of promotional events of the newspaper and its affiliates. The NEA lauded the 29 specific activities which include:

Sponsorship of a Father-Son basketball night, Man of the Year awards, candidate nights, teenage employment assistance, commuter ride pools, subscription promotion by telephone and by premium, speeches at local organizations and the annual cocktail party for merchants and civic leaders at the publisher's home.

Also praised was the distribution of a special Sun brochure at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner, special mailing pieces to advertisers and subscribers, promotion in news stories and editorials, the Lucky Sun promotion campaign and the free dinner and free theater ticket promotion by the classified department.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This latter item also won an honorary mention for the want ad department of The Sun.)

The slogan: "Nearly Every one Reads the Sun" was included in the events saluted by the NEA as well as house ads, commuter contests, an advertising workshop and a publicity workshop, a classified clinic, a clinic on the prevention of shoplifting, a journalism workshop, special signs for merchants to promote events, a reader questionnaire on how to improve the paper, a dinner for local Olympic stars and a rifle safety night.

TWO VACATION events wound-up the various features of the National Editorial Association gave its stamp of first place approval. They were the Sea Party to Hawaii and the recently concluded Jubilee Holiday to Europe.

Publisher Silverman and his family accompanied the party making the European trip, returning last week after a visit to many nations on the continent.

The newest award was given to The Sun during their absence. It is the 30th outstanding recognition received by the publication firm in recent months.

Moraga Memo

By JANE PUTNAM

July Flies--Bye, Bye!

Today, summer school is over at Acalanes. Wednesday, August arrives. A little more than a month away--school starts. Who is stealing summer's precious days?

They're flying as suddenly as did the gnats who infested the valley last week. Bob Waschnir of the Moraga Valley Nursery sent some of the pesky critters to a laboratory for analysis, as he'd never seen them before. The lab reported that they were flying aphids.

Bob recommends spraying all shrubs, damp places, dichondra, etc. with DDT liquid spray. This is good for Bob's business; but gnat for the insects, who're aphid of it. (And no, I can't talk plainer than that.)

LOLLAPOLOOZA LUAU. The luau at Carroll Country Club was a terrific success according to the many members and guests who attended. The perfect Saturday night weather made for an ideal tropical atmosphere. . . . Lillian Smith and Eleanor Clarke built a grass shack, and really went "all out" on the decorations. . . . Lorraine Fisher and Lucile Shrimplin wore grass skirts and greeted guests at the shack, with an assist by lifeguards Jim Schwartz and Mike Cunningham.

Buster Marini, Joe Navone, Lew Blodgett, Don Campbell dressed in hula skirts, donned black wigs, and put on an hilarious act. . . . Everyone wore colorful garb. Most of the gals wore leis and fresh flowers in their hair. . . . Among those attending were new members Corinne and Ralph Brennan, Bernice and Lou Rosenblum, Mae and Walter Schamel, Dee and Abe Lincoln, Harriet and Ralph Schwarz, Dorothy and Charles Seeman, Pauline and Steve Belavich, Betty and Loring Hansen, Marie and Leroy Myers. . . . Edith and Les Reed (Edith contributed much to the success of this party). . . . Joe and Ev Nosenzo (of Jo-Ev Variety) were the guests of the Buster Marini's (of Marini's new Rheem bistro.)

HORSEMEN RIDE AGAIN. The fall (well, let's not rush the seasons) event for the Moraga Jr. Horsemen's Assoc., Inc. will be Sunday, August 12. It will start at 8 a.m. at the association's arena, in beautiful Bollinger Canyon. An added attraction at this "gymkhana--rodeo--horse show" will be pony rides for future horsemen.

There will be 17 events including a steer stopping class for 21-year-olds-and-under and calf riding for 12-year-olds-and-under. Judy Morison and Leonard Santos will be judges. Pete Marron will be announcer. Arena director will be Tony Boeger. Show chairman is Hank Boeger. Phone Hank at CL 4-5335 for further information.

MORAGA NEWCOMERS and their husbands will be enjoying the "cool" evening breezes on Pat and Wally Hyde's patio when they hold their couples' barbecue. The planning committee (Mesdames Richard Avery, George Dove, William Brandt, Ronald Hohnsbeen, Wallace Hyde and Charles Tolquist) have worked hard planning a menu which should please the choicest of eaters. "We're hoping for some home-grown talent to live up to the festivities, so all members and prospective members are cordially invited to bring their best appetite to 1044 Sanders Drive on Saturday, August 4, at 7 p.m.," said Mrs. Henry McFalls, publicity chairman.

The Moraga Newcomers Club is a strictly social organization, formed to enable people become better acquainted in their community. The club began one year ago and already the membership is above fifty. Numerous activities are underway and many social events are presented throughout the year. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Richard Avery, 376-4173, or Mrs. Vincent Keilman, 376-4803.

POINTING WITH PRIDE to our progeny. It mayn't be polite to point, but we must to some of our young'uns who have found interesting jobs this summer. . . . Like Orindan Steve Brush who found a "hot job" in Walnut Creek. He's an almond frier. . . . Sidney Hillyer, the Bank Amer. scholarship winner and recipient of top scholarship to Whitworth College, Wash., is a checker at Lafayette Safeway. . . . Another scholarship winner, and last year's student body pres. at Miramonte, Barry Klopfer, is a smiling Texaco serviceman at the Rheem station. . . . Whereas, the Carroll Country Club, handsome Jim Schwartz, of Notre Dame, is lifeguarding. Jim is one of the three sons of Marchie Schwartz, All-American for Notre Dame 1928-29-30. Marchie was also a football coach at Stanford. . . . And at Fleischer's Zoo in The City, giving a sightseeing tour on the elephant train is a Miramonte boy who made good, Dick Hamlin. Part of his repertoire goes: "And in this cage we have absolutely nothing--for people who don't like animals."

CIVIC CITIZENS. At the Study Session of the County Planning Commission, many neighbors sat in the audience "in silent protest" to the proposed $6 million condominium adjacent to Miramonte High School. The neighborhood representatives are organizing a Postcard Protest to Martinez.

Among those who attended the Orinda Association to ask . . . and get . . . their support in opposing more multiples for Moraga were Bob Cron, Bob Amber, Dr. Lee Nelson, Helen Haslam, Warren Merrill and Jack Moran.

PHILOSOPHY. At the Santa Maria Catholic Church drawing recently, Orindan Ed McGah became $500 richer. The money may go toward a worthy Rolls Royce Ed had on order. The young builder tycoon is part owner of the Oakland Raiders. This only goes to prove that Confucius was right when he said: "They that has, gets!"

Moraga Trails Are Accepted

The County Board of Supervisors accepted the grant of easement from the Utah Construction Company for the right of way for hiking and riding trails near Moraga at their meeting Tuesday.

Before the public can use the trails, however, additional right of way must be obtained and fencing must be installed.

In other business, the supervisors awarded the contract for the demolition of buildings at the county hospital to the Gil Construction Co., Lafayette. Gil Construction submitted the lowest of three bids, with a bid of $22,500.

The work consists of demolishing and removing Ward "K" and the Nurses' Home, and incidental construction to provide exits from remaining buildings, and provide weathertight enclosures where removals have been made adjacent to other buildings.

This is the first stage in the reclaiming of hospital land for the future growth of the County Hospital's program or rehabilitation and therapy as recommended by the State Department of Public Health, Bureau of Hospitals.

Shamrock Sprinkler Co. Opens

The Shamrock Sprinkler Supply Company opened recently at 3688 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette.

"We will specialize in personal service, whether the homeowner wants a do-it-yourself system, or his contractor to install it, or our company to install it," said J. D. "Dan" Christner, owner.

The company will be the local dealer for Weathermatic Lawn Sprinkling Systems of Texas.

Christner said that he will stock a complete line of sprinkler equipment, including copper, galvanized and plastic pipe.

"We carry automatic controls, valves, fittings and all materials needed for automatic or manual sprinkler systems," said Christner.

"All residents of the area are welcome to come in and talk over their lawn sprinkling problems, or phone 284-1184," said Christner.

The buildings were condemned for further patient use approximately eight years ago and have been used primarily for storage in the last few years.

Class First in State

Orinda Union School District received extensive medical and educational evaluation.

Parents of the neurologically handicapped children and school officials hope that the information obtained from the operation of the classes will aid in developing special legislation for classes on a state-wide basis.

THE CONTRA COSTA County Health Department, County Schools Office and the State Department of Education are assisting the district.

Initial impetus in providing education for neurologically handicapped children began with parents and school district personnel in 1960. The Orinda Union School District offered a classroom for a pilot class in a program following the lines of the Los Angeles and San Mateo programs. Before the class could begin the authority for the program was withdrawn.

In the fall of 1960, interested parents formed the Contra Costa Association for Neurological Handicapped Children. Information to the public of the need for specialized facilities was provided by the association. The group met a temporary setback in 1961 when bills for providing special classes were defeated in the Legislature.

LEGISLATIVE aid was received in a ruling from the district attorney which permitted the neurologically handicapped to be educated under the term "Physically handicapped."

Orinda Kids Play and Learn in High Sierra Camp

CHOW LINE—NO SECOND CALL NEEDED

TIME FOR DREAMING AMONG PINES

WHO MINDS MAKING A BED HERE?

Pines and Stars in 'Classroom'

Today marks the close of the Orinda Union School District's unique outdoor education school in the High Sierra.

With the return at 6 p.m. of the last busload of happy, dirty Orinda small fry, the school to teach "Science and Conservation Through Outdoor Education" will end its eighth successful year.

THE FIRST of six sessions started June 18. At one-week intervals, fresh busloads of campers have left for their Monday-Friday interlude in nature's classroom. Over 300 youngsters have enjoyed the experience.

This year marks two "firsts" for the program, according to Frank E. Isola, director of the outdoor education school for the district.

The camp site was at Donner Lake this year instead of at Echo Summit.

This meant that the children studied more about the Donner party. It was more interesting to them, and easier to comprehend the trials of the California pioneers as the children stood at the summit where the last of the Donner party perished.

The other "first" this year was the inclusion of "guests" from the Moraga area. These youngsters were invited to share the benefits of their neighbors, as they have no such opportunity, as yet, in their own district.

THE PURPOSE of the outdoor school, according to Isola, is to give the child a chance to become acquainted with the pleasures and lessons to be learned in group living, in an outdoor camping situation.

And from all reports, the program has been an overwhelming success.

Because of the location of the camp, many subjects are graphically presented. These include California history, geology, weather, conservation and art.

The campers learn to identify trees, plants, animals and birds. They go to points of interest in the Donner Summit and Tahoe areas.

Health and safety are important to the program.

THE EVENING campfire is a highlight of the day with an opportunity for songs, nature quiz games and skits.

The buses have left Orinda School for six consecutive Mondays at 6 a.m., and returned the following Friday at 6 p.m.

One school bus is used to transport the gleeful youngsters and their counselors. The baggage is sent to and from camp by truck.

A nominal fee of $18 covers the cost of food, lodging, transportation and insurance. The Orinda Rotary Club has established a fund to be used for children in cases of need.

Isola, who is also director of physical education and recreation for the district, has had many years of experience as an outdoor enthusiast and conservationist. He is an experienced camp counselor, teacher and administrator.

MISS PATRICIA Siefker and Larry Pilcher, elementary school teachers in the district, are well prepared to teach in the outdoor classroom. They have had years of experience as teachers and camp counselors.

Mrs. Jeanne Grant, secretary to Isola, stays at home and answers zillions of questions at the district office.

Susan Emerson is head counselor. She is a senior at the University of California, Berkeley, and lives in Lafayette.

MARTY SPICER and Rob Alvarez are senior counselors.

Carol Gilmore and Nancy Englehart are the girls' junior counselors.

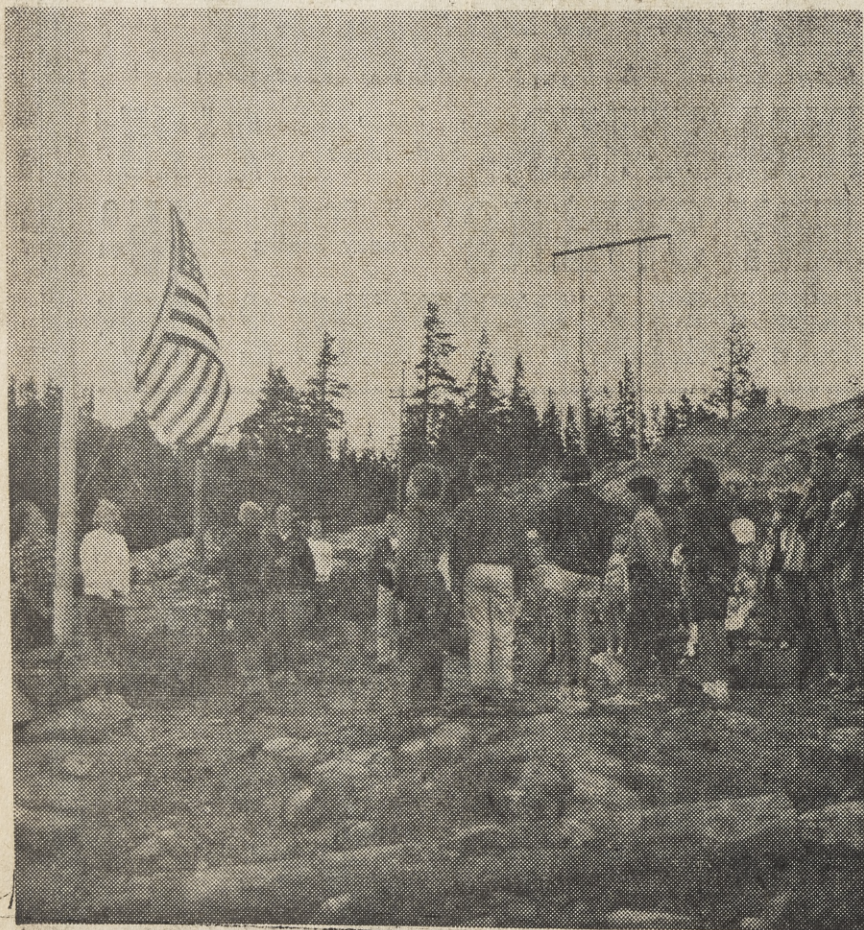

Jay Jacobus and E. J. Emerson are the boys' junior counselors.

On the advisory committee for the outdoor education school are: Joseph L. Sheaff, district superintendent; E. G. McNicholas, assistant superintendent for instruction; Raymond Ferro, curriculum consultant; Dr. Harold Bryants, former superintendent, Grand Canyon National Forest; Mrs. Gertha Brown, director, Audio-visual, for the county; Peter Wykoff, chief ranger, Big Bend District Tahoe National Forest; and Nels Johnson, ranger, Angora Lookout, El Dorado National Forest.

AS ANXIOUS parents greet not-so-anxious children today at 6 p.m., they will doubtlessly grin: "O boy! I can't wait till next year!"

Apartment' - A Bad Word?

Are the words apartment or "condominium" dirty words in our central county?

What will be the effect of the future expansion of apartment living on the economy and development of our communities?

What should be done about the current efforts to build large apartment and condominium developments?

MANY PEOPLE in our area are concerned about the sudden rush to build these units which may involve a greater concentration of people and perhaps more traffic.

Exactly what the splurge of apartment construction will involve for our communities nobody has been able to say and, as a result, it is difficult to decide just what the reaction to the next development proposal should be.

At present, the apartment developments have been running head-on into the communities' general plans, which often do not stipulate such construction for the area chosen.

But the board of supervisors has been favorable to such developments in several cases, and much ill will has resulted.

A STEP in the direction of forming an intelligent opinion concerning those developments would be taken if the county planning commission instructed its planning staff to immediately make a study of the problem in general, avoiding specific local examples, and learning how the developments have affected other communities.

This should not be an arduous task, with detailed research.

A trip to the cities of San Mateo and/or Palo Alto might offer a real insight since those communities are well known for their logical and effective development, and both have very large apartment and multiple living quarter areas.

A visit to the University of California (Berkeley) planning department might turn up some interesting observations.

THERE MUST BE a lot of evidence available about what apartments have done to their communities, and we could profit by those experiences.

Such a project should take one planner perhaps a week.

The answers would be beneficial to Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga and Walnut Creek, where apartment proposals are causing much commotion.

Not only has the question of apartments in residential areas been raised, but people have questioned whether apartments should be located in commercial areas, since this may be shutting out a "higher use" for the given piece of property.

PERHAPS THE COUNTY planning might check with the Walnut Creek, Concord or other city planning staffs.

The week's investment of time might have far-reaching effects in our central county.

Wise Decision

The Contra Costa Junior College governors' decision to allow instructors to present in public their philosophies and methods for selecting course reading materials and techniques is a wise decision.

The board should be commended for this and also its conduct during the trying months when the retention of Superintendent Drummond McCunn became inter-mixed with accusations that several required reading materials were "anti-American."

The accepted means of developing social studies courses and other courses has the strong support of most of the teachers, but many members of the public, uncertain just what the facts are, are dubious and feel that certain social studies courses are undermining the patriotism of the young students.

It is not entirely clear to The Sun just what sort of audience participation will be allowed during or after the teacher's presentation, but we hope that, retaining orderly procedure, members of the audience will be able to make comments, and the exchange of opinions can take place.

We also hope that members of the groups which question the current class materials, will take the trouble to actually follow the procedure of submitting their carefully-considered questions to Director Karl Drexel.

The answers to those questions should then be delivered in public session, where interested persons can get first-hand knowledge of how teachers feel about the given topic.

The people should be allowed to express their opinions on the methods used in junior college teaching.

Let People Decide!

County Administrator J. P. McBrien, considered an authority on governmental matters, has added his voice to those in favor of letting the people decide if they want consolidation of the Contra Costa County court system.

McBrien said he agrees with the current grand jury report which recommended that the four municipal and 13 justice courts be consolidated into three municipal and three justice court districts.

A savings of some $180,000 per year is anticipated, according to the grand jury.

Of course, the county court system is paid for by your taxes.

The county board of supervisors, which has the power to consolidate the courts without any election or other formality, have been under strong pressure from judges, constables, marshals and others to retain the status quo, since a consolidation will affect jobs and prestige.

On the other hand, the supervisors have opinions favoring consolidation from the grand jury, the County Bar Association, McBrien and Phil Gibson, chief justice of the California Supreme Court.

But the pressure on the supervisors has been relentless, and they have been unwilling to act up to this point.

The question of consolidating the county's courts should be on the November ballot.

It's up to the supervisors to see that the people have their say in this matter.

Two Weeks in Another Town & Postals Home!

By MARIE MONAHAN

PICTURE POSTCARDS: Dear Children: After lunching on Crab Louie at Spenger's (Alaskan crab due to shortage), we hit the first stretch of our long coastal drive to Way Down South in the Land of Dizzy...

This is Nepenthe, literally out of this world, sitting on lofty heights in the Big Sur region, a favorite retreat for artists, writers, the literati. The Frank Lloyd Wright Taliesin-type building designed by one of his proteges, an ethereal setting, swirling fog filling up the cavernous canyon. Here, a pitcher of amber brew we shared, out-of-doors, w/the rest of the road-weary refugees... A tranquil setting to symphonic tunes, giggling, gabbling college girl groups, bereted & bearded men & a little boy guest pitching pebbles into the steep ravine. We did, too, & made a wish!

Postcard: The winding macadam of U.S. #1 along the rolling combers of the Pacific... The green-thumb grandeur of gardener Dame Nature whose brilliant carpets of wild flowers cascade down moisture-kissed cliffs.

SAN SIMEON, Publisher Hearst's famous Castle surrounded by choice farm country, snuggled by Mother Earth's brown rolling bosom. Mr. Hearst would turn over in his grave if he could see the commercialism that has crept practically up to his doorway. More & more gawdy motels, unkempt trailer camps.

California's lush countryside rolling by but no second glance at the dowdy, dumpy towns that are either forgotten or swelling at the seams w/stereotyped subdivisions. Morro Beach (to come later), a prime example of nobody caring about planning & zoning restrictions, a flossam-jetsam look as if the town was tossed into the air & fell to earth, any old where...

"X" marks our table for Smorgasbord dinner at the Danish Inn in Solvang; The Danish Colony's charm all clean-cut & unpretentious w/big stork birds perched by their nests on the rooftops, this spot a few miles down the road from Mr. Andersen's famous Pea Soup place.

POSTCARD: A SWIM in Santa Barbara's ocean-front Miramar Hotel pool this morning undaunted by shroud of fog persisiting 'til noon... A tour of the manicured town, its well-groomed beachfront lined w/towering palms, boats galore, a fishing pier, a constant caravan of tourists & the usual modern motels advertising their Instant TV, Courtesy Coffee, Magic Massage mattresses, NO Vacancies & postage-stamp swim-pools.

METICULOUS Montecito, this, w/its cypresses, eucalypti & palms, a profusion of bursting blooms & cacti gardens... Old church bells bonging out a Welcome from the historic Missions... Charming shops; one a wig store called "The Wig Wam," a beauty salon dubbing itself "The Top Knot"...

Postcard: The highlight of Santa Barbara, this country-famous County Court House, the most magnificently beautiful public building anywhere, designed by friend Bill Mosser, SF architect who died last year but certainly made his contribution to beauty & posterity.

Reflect on the building's inscription—"God gave us the country. The skill of Man hath built the town..." Varro, 50 A.D....

An outstanding example of old Spanish-Moorish architecture, it fills an entire block, center-city, w/massive walls of stone & concrete, arched corridors, delicate grillwork, a sunken garden. At every turn of the head, master craftsmanship in design, mosaics, murals, pottery & tiles. Even the public telephones are housed behind massive carved-oak doors.

The meeting room of the County Supervisors is most ornate section of building; Here, historic episodes are painted vividly the full sweep of the ceilings & walls. It's like turning back the pages of time & we shall take you here someday.

ON THE ROAD again, past Burma Shave signs I learned to love as a pint-sized passenger... "Dim your lights behind a car so they can see how bright YOU are, etc..." & "Thirty days hath September, May, June & each speed offender, Burma Shave, Burma Shave, Burma Shave..."

POSTCARD: Malibu Beach filled to Coney-Island capacity w/swimmers, sunners & surfers... From here on down, too much traffic, too many people for me... A turn off to Santa Ynez Inn, where, after settling luggage in our room, we lunched poolside, waited on by the same waiter who served us twelve years ago when dining there regularly (w/toddler Chip along) was a ritual to us as residents of Pacific Palisades.

Dear Children: Having a wonderful time—but glad you're not here. Just for this once!! We're having a ball. Most postcards next week!

Depression Impressions

By VIC RUGH

Perhaps you're too young to ponder it—about half of the present population is—but when the stock market blue chips began turning pale a few weeks ago we began pondering how to work our way through another depression. May we point out right now — it's going to be a tough thing to do!

ARRIVING in San Francisco on the old S.S. Emma Alexander with $1.25 and a fancy wardrobe which included derby and velvet-collared topcoat, we grabbed a bundle of Chronicles and went into the residential area "boot-jacking."

This is the now-banned form of newspaper selling in which you screamed a headline — true or false — and brought the residents out of their homes to buy a paper.

Chronicle's sold for a nickel then and the "bootjacker" got three cents profit. A corner salesman for the paper collected two cents and a bonus if he built up his corner.

Although the Lindbergh kidnapping story died down, the district boss—a little Sicilian named Jimmy Melfi—gave us the location at Haight and Stanyan. Making wise cracks and kidding the customers we built it into a 100-per-night spot.

SATURDAY NIGHT the Sunday papers came out and brought a bigger price and also a bigger cut for the newsboy. A fellow could rake in about $16 a week including a $3 bonus check, if he worked at it and the rain didn't fall too heavily.

To supplement the income we sold shoes at Leeds on Saturdays, strictly on a percentage basis with extra "PM's" on old merchandise you managed to unload. It was there that we discovered the method of putting a "jiffy" into a size six shoe to make it fit like a five-and-a-half.

One more angle and our take-home-pay became more important than it is today: at noon we fed dishes into the dishwashing machine at Clinton's Cafeteria near Kress' on Market Street and received two free meals in return. This worked fine Monday through Friday.

With a room for $2.50 a week on McAllister Street, equipped with wash basin and a hot plate, we were in the chips.

NOW, TAKE A look at today!

To hold the same three jobs we would have to belong to three unions. The newsboys are organized, so are the sales personnel in the retail stores and to be a pearl-diver in a restaurant requires membership in the culinary union.

Couple this fact with initiation fees and our withdrawal membership in three other unions at the present time we hope they hold the depression off a bit.

Twenty-nine years of radio and television work finds us with cards in AFTRA (American Federation of Radio and Television Artists), SAG (Screen Actors Guild) and IBEW (International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers).

Guess we'll just keep on selling papers:

"Hi, get your Walnut Creek Sun there, mister!"

Letters to The Editor

TRANSIT REPLY
(Ed. Note: This is a copy of a letter sent to Supervisor Mel Nielsen by Robert Kahn, a Lafayette resident.)
Dear Mel:

I sincerely hope that on Tuesday you will change your position on Rapid Transit and vote to permit the bond issue to go to a public election.

In the hopes of changing your position, I would like to answer your views as reported by George Colburn in the July 20 issue of the SUN.

Your argument: San Francisco and Alameda Counties as metropolitan areas will have interests contrary to those of suburban (rural?) Contra Costa County and therefore Contra Costa should not be exposed. You raise this point twice — in regard to voter registration and board representation.

My answer: There are several faults in this logic. First, I have yet to see any time when Oakland and San Francisco as cities — or the two counties — have found real deep-seated agreement in positions. In fact, it might be much more logical for San Francisco to fear an East Bay coalition. As to voters — a much smaller percentage of the San Francisco people are commuters and so it is likely that many San Franciscans will oppose the bond issue because they, themselves, will never use the rapid transit system.

But for the fundamental weakness in your position I would like very much to use the United Bay Area Crusade as an example — the finest working, multi-county effort now under way. When the original structure was set up seven years ago, everybody was afraid. San Francisco had almost 50 percent representation. Each person had their own fears — San Francisco-Alameda coalitions, East Bay-West Bay coalition, San Francisco vs. the other four counties, etc. I have been a member of the executive committee for seven years — and I have yet to see a coalition. In fact, I have yet to see the time when all the representatives of either San Francisco or Alameda counties were in complete agreement.

The adequacy of the representation on the board of directors of the Rapid Transit District will depend entirely upon the quality of people that each county selects. Competent men will bring good representation; incompetent men will bring poor representation. This strength or weakness is just as true for San Francisco and Alameda counties as it is for Contra Costa County.

Your argument: The tube under the Bay will be utilized for limited periods and it might be cheaper to expand the tube so that cars could travel through it, thus relieving the pressure on the bridge and perhaps saving cost in the long run.

My answer: There are two basic problems, as I see it, in changing the tube from a two-rail train tube to one also carrying cars. First, the trains to be used will not, as I understand it, use internal combustion engines. The addition of cars would create a major expense for air circulation and control of carbon monoxide. This problem does not exist when cars use a bridge.

The major weakness of the proposal, however, is the problem of getting the cars from the end of the tube on to the street system and freeway system in San Francisco. The Oakland end does not present too much of a problem because there is a lot of land near the present bridge terminal.

However, the addition of cars to the tube under the bay would mean a dispersal system as great as we have now on the bridge. If the tube just handles transit, the outflow from the tube is controlled and simple — it just follows the transit routes outlined. Much of it will remain underground in downtown San Francisco.

Your argument: You do not think a direct line transit plan from Concord to Orinda to Alameda County serves the best interests of all the residents of the county. Of course, this overlooks the line that goes in to Contra Costa County to Richmond — also residents of the county.

My answer: If you ever drove the Tunnel Road to Oakland, as I have for approximately 5000 round trips in the past 15 plus years, I think you would find that this routing would serve the biggest single group in the center of the county. If I am not mistaken, this road is the heaviest traveled in this part of the county — in effect, the people have already voted on the route by their actions.

Your argument: Perhaps the solution is an express lane for AC Transit buses and that it would be much easier to clear one lane for buses than to build a rapid transit system.

My answer: It seems to me that the Board of Supervisors

Under The Sun The Rover Boy in Europe Goes to Copenhagen

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

COPENHAGEN—What am I doing in Copenhagen? The Sun's Jubilee (25th Anniversary) Holiday in Europe ended in London several days ago and did not include this capital of Denmark.

Well, Europe is like that. I decided to stay a few days longer. Eleanor returned home with some of our tour group because she is in the new Dramateurs' play.

Several on the tour stayed in London a few extra days; others headed for Scotland, Spain or the Scandinavian countries.

(By the time you read this, I will have returned to sunny Contra Costa County.)

And away he goes...

Wonderful, wonderful Copenhagen is about an hour by jet from London! The Danes, the food, the hotels, the city are just as wonderful as the books say.

I'm certain you're not reading this as a travel guide to Europe, since the travel books would do a far better job. I am attempting only to offer a few impressions of Europe.

One strong impression: when you go to Europe, you must visit Copenhagen. Leave other areas off the itinerary but this lovely harbor city is a must. Not only it is historical, interesting and fun, but the prices are relatively low—with the highest quality.

Disney's Danish competitors

You'll love Tivoli, 100-year-old garden-amusement park in the heart of the business section. It's a Danish Disneyland—only different. The emphasis is on beautiful gardens and lakes, free symphony and theatrical events, delicious food in 23 restaurants, as well as rides, games and carnival atmosphere.

Looking across the water from Copenhagen, I see Sweden. Wouldn't it be fun to visit Sweden?

So, after a six-hour tour of the Danish countryside and castles, I jumped on a big, bright, white ship that leaves for Malmö, Sweden, every hour.

It stayed light until 10 p.m. and the passage was beautiful—helped by a taste test of open smorgasbord sandwiches.

Inside Sweden—for 2 hours

Walked for two hours in Malmö, Sweden's third largest city, through beautiful city squares and narrow old streets, near wide canals and green parks. Had a sausage and beer in a corner restaurant filled with blonde, handsome teenagers—all singing American swing songs, accompanied by a blaring nickelodeon. American songs sung in Swedish is really something.

But no more amazing than the Dutch doing The Twist. In every country Le Twist is the rage.

My one-hour trip from Copenhagen to Sweden illustrates two points:

1. Compact geography of Europe. In fact, the two countries are only 20 minutes apart at one point by slow ferry boat.

2. Low prices! Round trip to Sweden via boat cost six kroner—87 cents.

Check and double check

Not everything is this cheap, of course. Another major impression of Europe is constantly signing traveler's checks. Like everyone else, I ran out of money in Paris, and cashed a check. (Note: be sure to travel with an American Express credit card, which permits you to cash checks.) We ran out of money again in London and three days later in Copenhagen.

Lira, francs, guilders, shilling, kroner, etc. may not equal a dollar—but they do disappear rapidly.

But I believe every cent spent on travel is worth while. You buy a new car, it wears out—or clothing, or a boat. You never lose your wonderful travel memories. They are a part of you forever.

Letters to The Editor

and such publications as the SUN took the lead in getting the central portion of the county out of the AC Transit District. As I recall the arguments raised at that time, everyone claimed that the poor, uninformed people in this area thought they were voting for Rapid Transit when they were actually voting for the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District.

Your argument: You point out that there probably aren't more than 25,000 commuters in the whole central county area.

My answer: First, commuters are not the only persons who will be using the transit system. I recall some figures on the order of 40,000 to 50,000 vehicles a day going through the tunnel. Even with slightly more than one person per car plus additional passengers in buses, this indicates that the potential is more than 25,000 users — and our population in this area is continuing to grow.

I hope that this rebuttal to your reported interview will be considered before casting your vote on Tuesday. I know that you have a big decision to make — and I sincerely hope that which ever way you vote, you will always be able to feel that you made the correct decision based on a thorough evaluation of all of the facts.

ROBERT KAHN

BUDGET-WISE

Dear Editor:
Thank you for your editorial reminder of the significance of impending budget sessions. Will you also please help further by providing a checklist of our various districts, when and where they meet (and is the public admitted?), and who are the governing personnel?

At the risk of betraying ignorance, I suggest also that the same information be included (when, where, and who) with respect to our county budget- and tax determining sessions. Please be quite specific.

I don't know where all the schools are and I mistrust my ability to hunt for supervisors' meeting for an indefinite period through the byways and back alleys of Martinez.

TEENAGER TIPPLING

Dear Editor:
Your editorial on Tippling by Teenagers ends with... "let's face it—alcohol is a danger to us as long as we use it..." On the opposite side of this page you report Austrian beer and Monte Carlo champagne as among the joys of your European tour.

What do you expect the teenagers, maybe your own, to think about this, provided they read it?

Very truly yours,

Local Brides, Grooms Have Beautiful Summer Weddings

This summer has seen a continual procession of local brides and grooms down the center aisle.

Among the many lovely weddings which took place recently are the following with principals living in Contra Costa:

DEVIN-VINSONHALER

Blue and white was the color scheme in the Orinda Community Church for the nuptials of Adelaide Ann Devin, and Loyd Richard Vinsonhaler.

The beautiful brunette bride, called Heidi, is the middle daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic R. Devin, 711 Moraga Road, Moraga.

Loyd is the son of James Vinsonhaler, Glenside Drive, Lafayette, and the late Mrs. Vinsonhaler.

The Rev. Chauncey Blossom, pastor, performed the rites before a large altar arrangement of blue delphinium, white stock. It was flanked by candelabra.

Heidi's gown was an original design created by Madame Rene Marion. It was of Italian brocade with renaissance lines. The shoulder veil fell from a petal bow which matched the cotton-silk dress fabric. Heidi carried a white rosebud bouquet.

Mrs. Jeff Little was matron of honor. Heidi's two sisters were among the attendants: Mrs. Ronald Fitzgerald and Priscilla Devin. Mrs. Richard Jarrett completed the bride's entourage.

The attendants wore ice-blue, full-skirted gowns with tight bodices, designed also by Madame Marion. The satin trimming, belts, hats and shoes were dyed to match.

Jeffrey Little was best man. Ushers were Steve Rasmussen, Bob Smith, Richard Jarrett and Don Kidd.

Heidi is a fifth generation Californian.

She attended, Anna Head School, Acalanes High School, Diablo Valley College and Armstrong's Business School. Loyd, a graduate of Acalanes, is attending Hastings Law School.

A reception for the 500 church guests was held after the ceremony in the gardens of the Devin home. Among those attending were friends from the Orient.

After a honeymoon in Victoria, B.C., the newlyweds are at home in Moraga.

ALLEN-SERVIS

Julie Allen became the bride of David Alan Servis at a 3 p.m. ceremony at the Orinda Community Church recently.

The Rev. Chauncey Blossom performed the rites. Julie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Allen, 50 Haciendas Road, Orinda. She attended Anna Head School, the University of Madrid, one year and Occidental College for two years.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Servis of Orange. He graduated from Occidental this year. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

As she walked down the aisle on her father's arm, Julie was radiant in a white silk gown with sabina neckline. The skirt was bell shaped and floor length. Her white tulle veil was held by a Dior rose. Julie carried a white rose bouquet.

Wendy Allen was her sister's maid of honor.

Janice Allen was bridesmaid for her cousin. Other attendants were Diane De Conick, Gloria Ross and Carole de Karr.

Best man was John Servis. Ushers were David Struthers, Larry Bowen, Lee Camp and Tim Helms.

The attendants wore pale yellow silk sheaths with boat necklines. Flat bows of the same fabric provided the stunning headpieces. Their flowers were yellow roses and white carnations.

CAHILL-WILLIAMS

David Bruce Williams claimed the Patricia Beryl Cahill as his bride at a lovely double ring ceremony in San Anselmo recently.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arleigh Williams, Sr., 9 Corte Sombria, Orinda. He attended the Fairfax school in Marin County, Sir Francis Drake High School and graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, this June.

His fraternity was Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He was also a member of the Big C, and Golden Bear. Currently, he is doing graduate work at the university.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Cahill of San Anselmo. She attended school in San Anselmo and received her A.B. from San Jose State College. Her sorority is Alpha Phi.

Patricia is teaching at Serra Elementary School in Richmond.

Among the Orinda guests at the wedding were Messrs. and Mrs. William Orchison, Charles Wilson and Mrs. William Holland, of Orinda; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis, Alamo; and Mr. and Mrs. William Shepard, Lafayette.

Patricia's gown was of white silk organza with valencia lace trim. The short French veil, held by a crown of pearls, made by Miss Carolyn Cahill, the bride's aunt.

Bridesmaids were Sandra Salvaressa, Linda Paolini, Linda Williams and Pamela Peterson.

Arleigh Williams Jr., was his brother's best man. Ushers were Kenneth Barnes, Joseph Cox, George Peterson and Keith Davis.

The newlyweds are now at home in Berkeley.

SWANSON-MIESNER
The Rev. Paul Yinger united Lynda Carol Swanson, and David Walter Miesner in marriage at the Piedmont Community Church recently.

Lynda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Carl Swanson, 850 Rosedale Avenue, Lafayette. She attended Acalanes High School and Diablo Valley College.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Miesner of Piedmont. He attended Piedmont High School, Diablo Valley College and San Francisco State College.

Lynda was lovely in her wedding gown of organza over taffeta with alencon lace and pearl trim. A four tier illusion veil was held by a lace and pearl crown. Her flowers were butterfly orchids with roses.

Maid of honor for her sister was Laurie Swanson. Bridesmaids were Linda Drake, Carol Miesner, Lis Patterson, Diana Lee Gatgens and Diane Frantzi.

Flower girl Lynn Nelson was adorable in a white eyelet dress and halo of Stephanotis. Peter Francee of Lafayette was ring bearer.

Best man was Stephen Shandrew. Ushers were Glen McCool, Lester Burns, Raymond Raneri, and Victor de Spiganovitz.

The reception was held in the garden of the bride's parents. It provided a setting of under-the-trees with white flowers around the garden, and gardenias floating in the pool.

The couple had a honeymoon in Southern California and Yosemite, and are now at home in Montclair.

McKEAN-GRAY

White chrysanthemums, gladioli and stock were combined in decorating the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church for the wedding of the former Sandra Gail McKean and Richard Charles Gray. The Rev. Andrew M. Robinson officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gail E. McKean, of Walnut Creek.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Jack Langley of Walnut Creek and Mr. Charles Gray of San Rafael.

Sandra was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father.

Barbara Paulson was maid of honor; Pat Friedrich, Carolyn Lindsay, Cheryl Fieldhouse and Diana Bingham, bridesmaids.

Philip Rutshaw Jr., was best man, and ushers were Clint Phalen, Michael Giles, Darrel Dunbar, and William Dodd.

The bride's gown was an all-silk bouquet taffeta, venise bodice, bell illusion skirt with sweeping chapel train. Swiss lace applique were re-embroidered on the bodice and skirt front, also decorating the bustled bow at the back. Tiny seed pearls and sequin embroidery accented the scalloped neckline and the lace bodice.

Her silk English illusion veil, elbow length, was attached to a silk taffeta rose on a lace gown with crystal and pearl drops from center.

She carried a bouquet of white baby roses and Stephanotis surrounding white and lavender orchid.

Bridal attendants were all gowned in rainbow colors of lavender, soft green and yellow, chiffon over taffeta. They wore matching veil head-dresses.

Susan Schroder, the little flower girl, was gowned in a floor length chiffon over taffeta in pastel pink. Her matching headpiece of pink veiling was attached to a chiffon rose. She carried a white basket of pink carnations.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Church Social Room where pink roses, pink and white carnations were used in decorating the bride's table.

After an unannounced honeymoon, the couple are making their home at Mill Valley.

Woman Blasts Baldwin, Says She'll Seek Office

Marion Powelson, head of the newly organized "Committee for Survival" and a candidate for the Women for Peace movement, blasted Representative John Baldwin in a letter this week and told The Sun she hoped to be a candidate for the congressional post two years from now. In her missive to the congressman from this district she commented on his recent newsletter regarding President Kennedy's foreign aid bill by declaring she had read Baldwin's comment "with sort of reluctant admiration for the unlimited quality of your inhumanity."

Mrs. Powelson is a resident of Walnut Creek. Her husband, Dr. David Harvey Powelson, is a psychiatrist, practicing in Orinda.

In discussing her letter, Mrs. Powelson declared, "All of our policies are beginning to reflect a poverty of spirit, a meanness of mind, a bankruptcy of morality that is appalling."

SHE ACCUSED Baldwin of being anti-United Nations, anti-communist, anti-labor and demanded he tell what he is for.

Here are direct statements from her letter:

"I hope you will forgive my saying so directly, but truth is always best, and straight talk wins the world. I learned that from my negro maid, who grew up in the south without bending her neck to the yoke offered by the white supremacists down there. She's a self-educated Mary McCloud Bethune.

"Communism is strictly from hunger, it is no magical creation by a boring fellow named Marx, but an attempt by undeveloped peoples to join the technological revolution and gain for themselves a life more similar to that they hear about in the U.S.A.

"I want to tell you two little stories:

"Once there was a communist. Oh, how I fought him! Aha, so he believed the ends justified the means, did he? I proved that means always determine ends. He wanted freedom, he said?

"I slapped the fellow upside the head with slave labor camps, restriction of travel and border guards. He believed in economic controls? I confronted him with scarcity, no butter, no eggs, no wheat. He wanted liberty? I stabbed him dead with police state terror.

"Oh, how I won him! I was about to put my foot on him as he lay dying, in the classic victor position, when he sprang newborn and raging from the floor. Amazed, I witnessed his anger. He roared, 'What do you want me to do?' he shouted, 'apologize for what I believe?' I lied when I said no.

"Oddly, I didn't change his mind. Hungary did. There's a lesson there, if you want it. You don't change people by arguments or exhortation. Read the sermon on the mount, Mr. Baldwin, next time you feel a breakfast prayer coming on. It'll do you a world of good.

"THE OTHER story is about China. Before she went communist because we refused to lend her two million dollars under the Harding Administration. (Russia lent it.)

"Anyway: An old China hand was describing her childhood in China as the child of medical missionaries. She told how when they went on picnics, the starving peasants would come and stand politely near, waiting for the scraps. It marred the pleasure of the picnic, even though they were always polite and quiet, just waiting.

"Of course, you gave them all your food?" I asked.

"I should say not—then we'd have had to feed them all, and we'd never have gotten rid of them." "Well, then you stopped going on picnics?" "I should say not! Why should their hunger disturb our pleasures?"

"I never did like that person anymore. I would say that for too long Americans have been picnicking and storing their food while the rest of the world starved before their eyes.

"Billie Sol Estes is a creation of ours, based on our immoral foreign policies, which are determined by little men who go into politics not to serve the people but to further their business interests. It's why we're so hung up on anti-communism we can't think.

"We are turning into a Garrison Warfare Welfare Stockpile state.

"It is one thing to oppose communism intelligently, it is another to confuse it with evil, to invest it with magical powers, and to think you can exercise it and erase it by incantations about freedom, justice, liberty, free enterprise and the world just as much as communism does, and maybe more so because you seem to have lost the ability for dispassionate judgment on this question.

"If you ever had the ability—I didn't pay attention until lately.

"I would like to suggest that if we sold our wheat to China it would strike a bigger blow at communism than anything we could do—besides which, I could stop paying tax for people like Estes to steal from the government.

"Sooner or later, even if the government didn't tell the Chinese people, they would find out it was from us."

Home Buyers Reassured of Trade-In Plan

Fear of being responsible for more than one property at the same time is removed for persons planning to buy another house through the use of trade-in programs offered by many realtors throughout the county, according to Ernest Armstrong.

Armstrong, chairman, Trade-In Committee, Contra Costa Real Estate Board, points out that people want new homes every time their family situation changes. They move to larger homes when their families increase; better homes when their incomes grow; smaller homes when their children marry and move away; and less expensive homes when they reach pension status," he said.

Trade-in programs, he added, are helping make purchases of another home possible for many persons. "It is a familiar process... very similar to the way a person buys a new car, television set or boat."

Some other realtors use the "agreement to purchase plan," under which a home owner, who has committed himself to purchase another home, lists his residence with the realtor for sale, he said. "If the property is not sold within a specified time, the broker agrees to purchase it at a stipulated net price."

Trade-in programs provide the security necessary "to create the desire and ability for a family to move from one home to another without becoming involved in double mortgages and financial pressures that eliminate the pleasure of securing a home better fitted to the family's needs," he added.

Balkans Tour Is SIR Topic

Robert Ralston, 29 Las Vegas Road, Orinda, officiated as chairman or "Big Sir" at the Wednesday meeting of Sons in Retirement, Sir.

"East and West of the Iron Curtain" was the subject of a talk given by Ted Lachelt, East Bay travel authority, at the luncheon meeting at Spenger's Fish Grotto in Berkeley.

Lachelt, recently returned from a tour of the Balkans, spoke before the group made up of retired East Bay residents. Jack J. Barry, co-chairman of Sir, said the organization is a non-profit luncheon club comprising 350 members. According to Barry, 100 Sir members are residents of Contra Costa County.

The aim of the club, he said, "is to promote independence and dignity of retirement."

Don't Discard Lighted Material

Motorists are cautioned against throwing lighted material from vehicles or upon the roadway, according to Bradford M. Crittenden, California Highway Patrol commissioner.

"During summer and early fall, fire danger soars. The careless discarding of cigarettes, matches or other lighted material can touch off a serious blaze," Crittenden said.

He pointed out that it is also a violation of law to throw any flaming or glowing substance from a vehicle.

AN ALL-ELECTRIC HOME IS COOL!

And a Retreat from the Heat

You get clean, comfortable, flameless heat in the cold weather when you need it, but in summer's blistering temperatures your home stays comfortably cool...actually 10° to 15° lower than outside. That's because your qualified electrical contractor's specifications call for full insulation in your Medallion home. In your electric kitchen the heat goes into the food instead of into the room. You have plenty of "Housepower"...modern wiring to handle today's and tomorrow's appliances; abundant lighting, planned for comfort, convenience and beauty. When the future is all-electric, it makes good sense to invest in a total-electric home now.

Orinda Still in Front In C.C. Jr. Tennis

Orinda defeated Sleepy Hollow and Lafayette beat Danville by identical scores of 7-5, and Walnut Creek split with Pleasant Hill, 6-6, last week in the boys' division of the Contra Costa Junior Tennis League.

In the girls division, Orinda defeated Sleepy Hollow and Danville beat Lafayette by identical scores of 10-2. Walnut Creek defaulted to Pleasant Hill, and will not be continuing the season because of a lack of players.

The race in the boys' division is very close after four weeks of play. The total points for each team in the past four weeks' action show Orinda out in front with 30, followed by Danville with 25, Sleepy Hollow with 23, and Pleasant Hill, Walnut Creek and Lafayette all with 22.

In the girls' division, Orinda remained 10 points out in front with 43 points. Danville is second with 33, and Sleepy Hollow third with 25.

Orinda is far out in front in the combined boys' and girls' league totals, with 73 points. Danville is second with 58, followed by Sleepy Hollow with 48 and Pleasant Hill with 45.

Three Sun Staff Members Get the 'Inside' Story

By HEC HANCOCK

The jig's up, we might as well confess.

Since the various junior baseball programs in the area have ended or are winding things up, we might as well ease our conscience and tell all. Maybe by cooperating we can get off easy.

Three members of The Sun editorial staff have been working both sides of the street.

In the interest of providing comprehensive and objective coverage of the junior baseball programs, we have gone right down on the firing line. Not only have we provided coverage of the baseball results, the Sun sports staff have been involved as coaches. (See pictures on this page.)

How far can one go in reporting?

George Colburn, Lafayette and Orinda news editor, manages the Cubs in the Optimist League in Walnut Creek.

Bob Rush, Sun photographer, manages the Tigers of the Walnut Heights School Peanut League.

I have had the pleasure, for the past seven years, of managing the Air Force Falcons of the Coast League in Walnut Creek (9-10-year-olds).

The Walnut Heights Peanut League is comprised primarily of second and third graders. There are six teams of 15 players involved. The league was established three years ago by Claire Belagno to take care of the youngsters until they could play in the Walnut Creek junior baseball program.

Rush's Tigers are currently in second place in the standings. In Chris Gilman, Bob feels he has a fine pitcher. Mike Gipner is another of his outstanding players.

Jimmy Burton has probably shown more development during the season than anyone else on the team. Through lots of hard work, he has developed into a fine second baseman. He throws and hits well now, but at the outset didn't appear to show any particular aptitude for baseball. Kenny Bolin, third base, has the good arm and is a fine glove man. Steve Wright has shown well all season long as an outfielder.

Bob, unlike the rest of us, has two reasons for coaching, namely twin sons, Glen and Gary Rush. Glen is coming along fine as a catcher and Gary is doing a good job in the infield. Bob has enjoyed the season and plans to stay in the program for the next several seasons.

Over in the Optimist League they're talking about what they can do to neutralize George Colburn.

George is relatively new to the area. This marks the second season he has coached the Cubs in the 13-14-year-old league.

Last year, George, the newcomer to the area, started off with a bang and six straight wins before his boys faltered and slid to second place.

The Cubs this season have yet to lose a game in league play. After rolling to eight consecutive victories to clinch the title, they were tied last week, the only blemish on their otherwise perfect record.

Pitcher Bob Loe has compiled the tremendous record of hurling all but two innings of the season. He pitched seven complete games and, of course, won them all.

Dennis Johnston, centerfielder, is the local answer to Ty Cobb. He is hitting over .500 and easily leads the league in stolen bases. He has been known to score from second base on infield outs.

Catcher Chuck Budde (his dad assists with the coaching) is probably the best catcher in the league. He has a .400-plus batting average to go with a strong arm that keeps base runners from getting too frisky.

Roger Harris, left-handed first baseman, has played excellent defensive ball and anchored the infield. Tim McIntock, sure-fielding left-fielder, is the lead-off man and best bunter on the club. Has now had four RBI's via bunts in the last two games.

Willie Gorman, shortstop; Riek Menesini, second base, and John Templer, third base, round out what has become a fine defensive infield.

Dan Flynn, relief pitcher and utility infielder; the McKevitt brothers, Russ and Dave, and Drake Brees, all outfielders, complete the squad.

Down in the Coast League, Air Force Falcons have had their lumps this season. However, while they haven't had the ball bounce consistently right for them, they have displayed great spirit, and from the enthusiastic manner they played their last games of the season, one might have gotten the idea they were in the midst of a hot pennant race.

Rich Piona in his first year of pitching has shown promise of becoming a really fine hurler. Rich also leads the club in homers. Kenny Erickson handled the relief pitching chores, and was the best infielder on the club, holding down second base when not on the mound. His brother, Craig, was the centerfielder.

Allen Carlson, catcher, was the work horse of the team. His dependable hitting was a welcome addition. Ned Rowley, with a fine arm, is the third baseman. Ned holds the rare distinction of hitting two triples in the same inning. Tom Hancock, shortstop, has hit well in the closing games of the season. Tom struck out less than anyone else on the club, I can proudly say.

Rhio Byers, with a fine easy-going disposition, was one of the better outfielders. Wally Judd, rightfielder, also hit the longest ball on the club. Mark Alarie, first baseman, turned in some good glove work during the year. Joe Andreasen, Brent Donaldson and late-comers Gary Banta and John Handelhin rounded out the club.

The Falcons can sum up their season with the fact they won but two of nine games, despite the fact they scored 108 runs!

So that's our secret. Not only have we reported the baseball wars, we've been in them. We have experienced the elations, the frustrations and the pleasure that goes with coaching.

Walnut Festival To Hold 18th Marathon Run

Entry blanks will soon be available for the Walnut Festival's 18th annual 5.7-mile race on Sunday, September 23.

The race is open to all AAU registered runners, and was won last year by Tom O'Riordan of Dublin, Ireland, running for the Santa Clara Youth Village in a record time of 27 minutes 44 seconds.

Two Teams 'In' In WC Baseball

With the Walnut Creek Junior Baseball season just a step away from slipping into the record books, the fine competitive play that has characterized the entire season continues right down to the end of the schedule.

Actually, all but two of the leagues need the final games to decide who will wear the league honors. One league, the National, in all probability will need a playoff to decide the issue.

In the Coast League, A & W Root Beer nailed down the championship last week.

The International League saw Diablo Cleaners requiring a victory in their final outing of the season to wrap up the championship. Should they stub their toes and lose, a tie would result with second place McDonnell Nursery.

THE NATIONAL League had two claimants to the league championship, Russ' Barber Shop and Jack & Bob's Meats. A playoff will be required, provided both win their final league outings.

The Cubs clinched the Optimist League a week ago, and in the interim have been playing a series of games with some of the neighboring communities.

The Western Gold League saw Burton's Nursery move within a gnat's eyelash of the title, but still needing to win the last game to put their lead beyond reach.

The American League is a two-team fight between WCYAA and the Central Firemen.

COAST LEAGUE
A & W Root Beer, having yet to taste defeat this season, ran out of competition when Gil Ashcom knocked off their closest rival, Stevenson Electronics, 18-6.

The Ramblers, capable of knocking any team in the league over, but one of their best games together to knock Stevenson out of the race. Bob Clark and Roddy Lindberg handled the hurling chores. Clark helped his own cause, belting one of the longest homers of the season. Grame Gilfillan, Kevin Odell, Gary Belknap, Paul Ross and Bryan Chapman all had a good day at the plate.

Walnut Creek Sheet Metal handed Davis Donuts their first of two losses on the week, 5-2.

The Reds also took the measure of the Donut men, prevailing in a slug fest, 14-2.

KIWANIS ROLLED to a 17-7 decision over LoRay's behind a very creditable pitching effort on the part of Jay Johnson and Hank Loeser. Kern Trembath was credited with a grand slam homer, while Jay Johnson also belted a round tripper for the winners.

Sports & Games, after losing a string of one run struggles, showed their muscle topping the Reds, 18-6. Kevin Herring, Bob Leland and Steve Grimes accounted for five of Sports' & Games' 18 hits. Each scored three runs. Rich Raley came in to put out the fire when he retired the side with the bases loaded.

Extra base hits by Phalen, Merten and Armstrong and a homer by Sanborn provided Army-Navy Surplus with six runs during the first inning as Army-Navy Surplus downed Walnut Creek Canning 7-6. Jan Kilbuck pulled off a double play unassisted and also belted a triple for the losers.

THE AIR FORCE Falcons and Sandra Joy huffed, puffed and struggled to a 16-16 tie. Both clubs played with a desire that belied their place in the standings. Tim McGinnis belted a homer and Larry Wilson knocked a triple for the Sandra Joy Club. Rich Piona connected with a four-bagger together with Tom Hancock who had a triple and a single led the Falcon hitters. John Handelman made a clutch catch, and young Don Jason pitched well in relief.

Brown's Hobby Center won a seesaw battle with General Office, 8-6. Dave Reid whacked a triple for the victors and Tim Kell was the winning hurler.

INTERNATIONAL

Oakmont Memorial hung on to edge by the WCYAA, 9-8. Warren Hammett was the winning hurler. Kev Austin and Bill Duerter combined to turn in a sparkling double play.

Sids and Bi Rite struggled and fought for naught as they wound up with an 8-8 standoff.

Diablo Cleaners remained in their first place tie when Clifford Electric was forced to concede.

Norm Read pitched McDonnell Nursery to a pair of wins during the week to keep his club in contention for the title. He tossed a two-hitter as McDonnell downed Walnut Creek Aggregates, 11-1. Earl Reese was two for two at the plate. Al Valencia came up with two defensive gems when he fielded two drives to right field and threw the runners out at first. McDonnell's took the measure of Parker Robb in the last outing of the season for both clubs by a 9-5 count. Bob Blakie and Den-

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Jack & Bob's Meats won a cliffhanger from Broadway Shopping Center, 6-5. Neil Swanson allowed but three hits while striking out 14, and was the winning pitcher. Jim Huff limited the Jack & Bob's Meats and struck out 12 in a losing effort. The win kept Jack & Bob's Meats tied with Russ' Barber Shop, which won via a forfeit when the WCYAA lost too many players to vacation demands.

OPTIMIST LEAGUE

The Dodgers won a pair during the week to move solidly into second place. To get things rolling they shut the Pirates out, 9-0. Buck Thompson serving up a well-pitched shutout. Ross Rowley and Charley Davis both were two-for-three at the plate to lead the Dodger attack. Following this victory, the Dodgers rolled by the Giants, 16-1. Bill Michalak was on the mound for the Dodgers. Charley Davis again had a good day at the plate, belting two doubles and a single. Gerald Johnston was two-for-three on the day.

The Cubs, undefeated in eight games and with the title clinched, were held to an 8-8 standoff by the Reds last Friday.

U.S. SWIMMING STARS, including Donna de Varona of Lafayette (right) departed this week for the Japanese National Swimming Championships in Osaka. With Donna are Roby Whipple and Roy Saari. In all, 12 National AAU champion swimming and diving champions are making the trip, at the invitation of the Japanese Amateur Swimming Federation. The meet will be held July 25-29. Miss deVarona, of 3404 Mall Lane, is a member of the Santa Clara Swim Club. The family plans to move to Santa Clara soon. Japan Air Lines photo.

Roger Harris of the Cubs stole home with two outs in the bottom of the last inning to tie up the game. However, the winning run was left stranded at third base. Willie Gorman's two-out single had brought home one run in the final stanza as the Cubs trailed by two going into the inning.

The Reds outhit the Cubs, 11-5, with Bob Dunlap getting three and Ed Newell, Gerry Grace and John Heagney each getting two.

Harris also collected a double which drove in two runs in the second inning and gave the Cubs a 4-2 lead. Tim McClintock also drove in two runs, both on "squeeze" bunts.

WESTERN LEAGUE

Marshall Realtors, assuming the role of "spoiler", clobbered Burton's Nursery, 11-3. The Marshall victory keeps the race "alive" with Walnut Bowl having a chance to sneak off with the league pennant.

Norm Bowen was on the mound for Marshall's. The winners collected 11 hits in an effort that saw everyone but the leadoff man receive a base hit. Dave Allasia was the big man of the barrage with three safeties. Norm Bowen had two hits. Greg Meacham and Bill Kreitz had their first hits of the campaign.

In other league action, Simon's topped the Bullets, 7-4.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

With the contenders having three games to play this week, this league won't be decided until the final game. Central Firemen edged by WCYAA to assume the lead on strength of two wins during the last week's play. The Firemen edged Costello Laundry, 6-4. Mike Breuleux pitched and Pete Breuleux was his battery mate. Bob Kreider came on to assist in relief. The Firemen then emerged triumphant over the WCYAA, 5-3 to move into sole occupancy of first place.

Previously the association had topped Kavert, 6-2. The Colts also took the measure of Kaverts, 6-2, but in turn were upset by Costello Laundry, 12-2.

4 Teams Share First in Orinda Softball League

Four of the six teams in the Orinda Adult Softball League are currently tied for first place, but next week there will be just two.

The Friars, after three wins in a row, fell to Casa Orinda, 10-9, Monday night to set up the four-way deadlock. The other teams sharing the lead are Casa Orinda, Wallace Realtors and the I.C.B. All-Stars.

Peretti Realty and Robbins & Co. are both 0-4. In the final games of the first round next Monday night, Casa Orinda and the All-Stars battle at Pine Grove while the Friars and Wallace square off at Inland Valley.

One of the two winless teams in the league will end its wrong way streak at Del Rey. All games are at 7 p.m. Casa Orinda led all the way against the previously undefeated Friars, but had to hold off a last inning rally to gain the win. Leading at one time, 9-2, Casa Orinda held a 10-8 lead going into the last inning.

Wallace subdued Robbins, 19-17, scoring 13 times in the first inning. Robbins had the tying and winning runs on the bases in the seventh inning, but couldn't come up with a clutch hit.

The All-Stars were sparked by the hitting of John Guzzo,

With the curtain ready to ring down on another season of LYA Baseball play, the final games of the schedule will definitely be required to make the final determination of league champions.

In a week's play that saw considerable action, the last team, Rheem, in the Minors National Division, tumbled from the undefeated ranks.

As the final week of play got under way, no team had been successful in wrapping up a title. In fact, the leaders in each case, can't be censured too much for looking a little apprehensively over their shoulders at their hotly pursuing competitors.

MERIT TANKS also moved up two games on the win side. They got by Lincoln Development, 6-5, and then were declared the winner when Links Appliances couldn't field a full team.

Orchard Nursery salvaged a win on the week, shutting out American National Insurance, 6-0.

Links Appliances tallied a 14-8 victory over Sun Valley Lumber. Lafayette Rental and Hardware picked up the first of two wins topping the Lafayette Lions, 10-3, and then pounding out a 15-6 win over Lafayette Dime and Dollar.

MORAGA LIONS also took the measure of Lafayette Dime and Dollar, 7-3. However, the Moraga group came on evil days when Lincoln Development came out on the long end of a 16-3 count.

Sun Valley Lumber picked up their second win of the week, shutting out the Lafayette Lions, 9-0.

PONY LEAGUE

Lafayette Toyland and LYA III met head on to decide the leadership of the loop. After a tough struggle that saw the lead change hands several times, Lafayette Toyland came out on the right end of a 9-8 count.

Both teams then won their second game of the week. Toyland downed LaFiesta Barbers, 7-4, and LYA III pounded out a 10-5 decision over the Emporium,

Babe Ruth All-Stars Drop From County Race

Diablo Valley's Division 1 All-Star Babe Ruth League team was eliminated Sunday from the race for the Contra Costa County championship when they were defeated by Antioch, 5-4, in extra innings.

The All-Star team, with players representing all five Diablo Valley squads—Martinez, Lafayette, Danville, Orinda, and Pioneers—was coached by Bruce Wood of Lafayette, who led his Jacuzzi Whirlpool team to the Diablo Valley championship last week, and Danville coach Warren Cryer.

Orinda Legion Winds Up Season

Orinda's American Legion baseball team was in third place going into their last game this week after winning one and losing one over the weekend. They played their last game of the season Wednesday night against El Sobrante.

Randy Thaman pitched Orinda to a 9-5 victory over Rodeo Saturday, giving up 11 hits. The locals collected 12 hits, including a homerun by Steve Cummings. Pete Boyle and Jay Angelo got three hits apiece.

Orinda was the victim of a three-hitter Sunday, as they lost to Richmond, 4-1. Jim Tonascia gave up nine hits for Orinda. Steve Thaman, Dave Texdahl, and Angelo accounted for Orinda's three hits.

In runs-batted-in Bruce Nickerson has 15, followed by Steve and Randy Thaman with 11 each.

Tonascia leads the pitching staff with a 1.37 earned run average and a 5-4 record. Steve Thaman has a 2.49 E.R.A. and a 3-2 record, while Randy Thaman is 2-0 with a 3.50 E.R.A.

were defeated by Antioch, 5-4, in extra innings.

The All-Star team, with players representing all five Diablo Valley squads—Martinez, Lafayette, Danville, Orinda, and Pioneers—was coached by Bruce Wood of Lafayette, who led his Jacuzzi Whirlpool team to the Diablo Valley championship last week, and Danville coach Warren Cryer.

Antioch, which went on to beat Richmond for the Contra Costa championship, put together a run on three hits and an error in the ninth inning to nip the All-Stars, 5-4.

ANTIOCH jumped to a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Tom Thurston of Martinez scored the first run for the All-Stars in the third inning.

After they were outscored 2-1 in the fourth inning by Antioch, the All-Stars tied it up in the fifth inning when John Copa of Pioneers banged out a double to score Thurston and Tom Archer of Orinda.

The score was still 4-4 after a regulation seven innings, and Antioch put an end to the game after two extra innings. Tim Stewart of Danville, Mike Liddle of Orinda, and Bob Strain of Lafayette handled the pitching chores for the All-Stars.

THE ALL-STARS made their way into the semi-finals by whipping the Albany-El Cerrito All-Stars, 15-3, Saturday.

Dale Minjack relieved Dave Sargent of Lafayette in the first inning when Albany-El Cerrito gained a 3-0 lead. The All-Stars came back in the second inning to pile on 11 runs, and added three more runs in later innings.

Diablo outhit Albany-El Cerrito 17-5. Steve Cryer of Danville collected three for three. Jim Medak of Lafayette went three for five. Ron Strain of Lafayette and Ron Hamburg of Orinda went two for three.

ANTIOCH, the Contra Costa County Babe Ruth champions, play the Santa Clara County champions tomorrow to begin the five-county playoff in Burlingame.

Mrs. Fry Wins In Orinda Golf

Mrs. Ted Stiffler and Mrs. F. C. Borgnino tied for first in Class B. Second place was Mrs. W. K. Nider.

In Class C Mrs. R. C. Steele and Mrs. G. A. Gilpatrick tied for first.

SOMEDAY YOU MAY SLEEP UNDER AN electric blanket that heats and cools

But here's another surprise: Although new appliances add to your utility bill—the price of PG&E gas and electricity is actually 8% less than 30 years ago!

Word of Caution To Sunbathers: Don't Get Burned

If you are going to sunbathe, take it easy — avoid getting burned," says Dr. Jonas Schneider, dermatologist and president of the American Cancer Society. The Contra Costa Branch of ACS recently relayed the doctor's message to local residents.

He pointed out that excessive exposure to the sun sometimes causes skin cancer to develop. The risk is greatest for blue-eyed, fair-skinned persons, because skin cancer occurs less frequently in dark-skinned, dark-eyed types.

"There are several schools of thought about sunbathing," Dr. Schneider said. "Some doctors urge fair people to stay out of the sun entirely. However, the most practical approach to sunbathing is to enjoy it in moderation."

Dr. Schneider suggested five minutes of sun the first day out, ten minutes the next, and so on depending on individual tolerances. "Some people can stay in the sun for as long as an hour without getting burned, while for others ten minutes is too long," he said. "It's something people have to work out for themselves, using common sense and past experience as guides."

He emphasized that the American Cancer Society is anti-cancer but not anti-sun. "We want people to enjoy themselves in the summer sun, but safely," he explained. "While skin cancer is 95 per cent curable, a little care against overlong exposure, particularly among persons with susceptible skins,

Semantics Program Is Slated

"Eye of the Beholder" will be shown at the meeting of the Contra Costa Chapter of the International Society for General Semantics today at 8 p.m. at Diablo Valley College, Room T101, according to Robert Carr, president.

The film is concerned with perception, communications, interpersonal relations, etc. It depicts a series of events in the life of a young man through the eyes of a variety of people with whom he has contact — his mother, a cab driver, a headwaiter, his landlord. It also traces this same series of events in terms of the meaning they have had for him.

Discussion following the film will be led by Dr. Donald K. Fisher, 1799 Shirley Court, Concord, an officer of the local General Semantics chapter.

A second film "Communication Primer" will also be shown. This film is used in the communication courses at the college.

The regular fourth Friday meeting is open to the public according to Carr. For further information call MU 2-2720 or Mrs. E. Girande, program chairman at YE 5-3332 evenings.

County's Buying Power Rates High Nationally

While Contra Costa ranks 73rd in population, its per capita buying income of $2298 places it 47th among the nation's counties, according to the 1962 Survey of Buying Power of Sales Management Magazine.

The publication, which makes analyses of all market areas and is regarded as the bible of the merchandising business, gives Contra Costa County $987,764,000 in net effective buying income, placing it 67th in rank among the leading 200 counties.

Seven of eight Contra Costa cities were rated substantially above the national average of 100 in the magazine's "quality of market index" and Walnut Creek is rated as the third in quality in California behind Beverly Hills and Marysville.

Copyrighted figures contained in the comprehensive annual report were made available today by the Contra Costa County Development Association.

The quality index figures, apparently based upon potential buying power in relation to population in the designated market areas, give Walnut Creek $9576 per household income and an index of 224. Richmond has a household income figure of $6825 and an index of 119, which would indicate a market 19 percent better than the national average.

Scout Camp Is Praised

Camp Wolfeboro, Mt. Diablo Council's high Sierra Boy Scout camp has been rated "A" with 99 points out of a possible 100, by a Region XII committee, consisting of Judge R. M. Simms Jr., of San Rafael; Jay Clements, Deputy Regional Scout Executive; Dr. Ralph D. Kirk, Mt. Diablo Council health and safety committee chairman; Roger L. Bales, scout executive; and Zack Russell, director of camping, both of Mt. Diablo Council. Presentation of a pennant, signifying the high rating, was made to the local officials at Camp Wolfeboro. Director of Camp Wolfeboro is Robert Meinholtz, assistant scout executive. Assistant director of program is Ed Lasater, Delta district executive. Several features received special commendation from the inspection committee. In use of the campsite area, the council was praised for excellent use of stream facility for the waterfront area (North Fork of the Stanislaus River). A good base area for high Sierra trips, with back-packing, and burro-packing, was noted. The campsite layouts with new tentage were "impressive," according to the committee.

SPECIAL PRAISE was given to the "highly developed nature program, in camp and overnight camping." "Outstanding" was the comment with regard to pre-planning orientation and programming done with Scoutmasters by camp staff. Extra high-caliber personnel, "recruited for enrichment of program, as well as skills," got the committee's attention. For example, the handicraft director, Justin Ndija, a recreation leader in his home country of Kenya, Africa, and the rifle range instructor, Ralph W. Anthony, a retired Army major, who has received many decorations and honors in the service of his country.

Others include John Carawan, graduate of USC and Wayne University, waterfront director; and Ted Papenfuss, naturalist, who spent the summer of 1961 on safari, and who taught in the University of Ghana (Africa) as a naturalist. Business manager and assistant camp director is Engel Branstad, teacher in the Pittsburg High School.

Health and safety supervision is under a camp doctor and nurse. Water is from an approved, improved gravity-flow system, and is chlorinated. Food handlers and food service are carefully checked each day for sanitation and cleanliness.

RESIDENT CHAPLAIN service is provided through a full-time paid member of the clergy. Special provisions are made for Catholic scouts whenever possible through their local pastors.

Major improvements have been made at Camp Wolfeboro this year, including several new septic tanks, with leaching beds; generators for refrigeration; new tentage for scouts; and a remodeled kitchen to meet state restaurant code requirements.

Wolfeboro starts its second two-week period last Saturday, with 16 troops going into camp with 297 boys, plus their adult leaders. By the end of the season in late August, more than 1300 scouts will have camped at Wolfeboro this summer.

Aster Frikartii--A Most Willing Worker

Perennial asters are not made as much of in California as they are in other parts of the United States. For one reason or another—usually time—our gardeners do not choose to give these Michaelmas daisies the attention they need for best appearances.

There is one member of the family, however, which the California Association of Nurserymen recommends highly for California conditions. It thrives in the heat of our inland valleys and in the cooler gardens along the coast.

IT YIELDS a summer-fall mass of bright blue daisy flowers, which do much to liven the garden setting in a period when any extra touches are nice to have around. The name of this easy-to-grow aster is Aster frikartii—or, if you prefer common names, Wonder of Stafa.

Wonder of Stafa is a shrubby perennial of some two feet high. Its blooms somewhat resemble a "blue Marguerite" though that name is reserved for another daisylike perennial which we'll consider below. Under favorable conditions, these fetching flowers are two and three inches across, though under conditions of semi-neglect they are usually two inches at most and still attractive.

Where other perennial asters need rather exacting attention, including division every year in the manner of chrysanthemums, Wonder of Stafa has a compact habit and is happy to be left alone year in and year out. It is this easy attitude toward life that ranks it high with gardeners who grow it.

It does like water enough to ward off thirst and an occasional shot of liquid fish to brace it for a long bloom season.

USE WONDER of Stafa in the garden border where the plants can be massed in groups or strung out to form a medium high row of blue. In combination with yellow Marguerites, place it in front of the taller growing Marguerites.

You'll find it attractive also when combined with any number of other annuals and perennials—with pink and white petunias, for instance, or with ageratum, lobelia and summer chrysanthemums.

Gardeners with a liking for the showy brilliance of dwarf cushion chrysanthemums may want to try planting the other perennial asters—especially the dwarf varieties which match mums for bright color in late summer.

There's another blue "daisy" which takes to Contra Costa gardens with an ease that's almost too good to be true. Felicia, or blue Marguerite, is so happy here that it self-sows.

Felicia provides year-round growth has become somewhat most of the state. Like the aster which it resembles, felicia is good for cutting and mixing in old-fashioned informal bouquets with yellow and white Marguerites.

IN THE GARDEN, it is a wonderful border plant, providing year-round color and evergreen foliage. You can use it, too, in tubs on a sunny deck for close-in show.

Culturally, felicia is even easier to grow than Wonder of Stafa, needing a sunny spot or only a touch of shade at most. It is indifferent to attention from the hose and needs no food to speak of unless grown in a container, in which case supplemental feeding is recommended.

Like Wonder of Stafa, it is an all-around good plant for Californians to have in their gardens.

There is one member of the family, however, which the California Association of Nurserymen recommends highly for California conditions. It thrives in the heat of our inland valleys and in the cooler gardens along the coast.

IT YIELDS a summer-fall mass of bright blue daisy flowers, which do much to liven the garden setting in a period when any extra touches are nice to have around. The name of this easy-to-grow aster is Aster frikartii—or, if you prefer common names, Wonder of Stafa.

Wonder of Stafa is a shrubby perennial of some two feet high. Its blooms somewhat resemble a "blue Marguerite" though that name is reserved for another daisylike perennial which we'll consider below. Under favorable conditions, these fetching flowers are two and three inches across, though under conditions of semi-neglect they are usually two inches at most and still attractive.

Where other perennial asters need rather exacting attention, including division every year in the manner of chrysanthemums, Wonder of Stafa has a compact habit and is happy to be left alone year in and year out. It is this easy attitude toward life that ranks it high with gardeners who grow it.

It does like water enough to ward off thirst and an occasional shot of liquid fish to brace it for a long bloom season.

USE WONDER of Stafa in the garden border where the plants can be massed in groups or strung out to form a medium high row of blue. In combination with yellow Marguerites, place it in front of the taller growing Marguerites.

You'll find it attractive also when combined with any number of other annuals and perennials—with pink and white petunias, for instance, or with ageratum, lobelia and summer chrysanthemums.

Gardeners with a liking for the showy brilliance of dwarf cushion chrysanthemums may want to try planting the other perennial asters—especially the dwarf varieties which match mums for bright color in late summer.

New Art Patrons Exhibit Displays By Local Artists

Two new patrons of the Diablo Art Association, Harry L. Stylos and Robert Queen have one-man art shows of two local artists in their places of business.

The abstract paintings of Alamo artist James Lawson will be hanging in the offices of Harry Stylos Real Estate, 120 Rule Court, Walnut Creek. Lawson is a graduate of the College of Arts and Crafts and has gotten inspiration for more than one of his interesting paintings from the radiation lab at the University of California where he is a design draftsman.

In 1960, Lawson was president of the Diablo Art Association. He has competed in various art shows and has several first prizes to his credit.

Wood mosaics and oil paintings of Concord artist Beth Barnes on display Queen's Hamburger Palace, 1871 Sutter, Concord.

The association is formulating plans for a fall show which will be held during the Walnut Festival September 21-23 at the Walnut Creek Armory. Mrs. Lawson, exhibit chairman, announces that the entry blanks and invitations will be out soon. There will be Art-in-Action set up inside the Armory with a country fair theme. Cyndicy Quinn of Lafayette will be in charge of this part of the show.

Storage Carport

Cleverest idea for a dual purpose rest-and-storage spot is a bench with box frame and hinged top made of Douglas fir 2x4s and 1x8s with padded top that can be brought in during the winter. Placed against the garage or along a shady side of the house, it is much used.

County Readies Display For First L.A. Showing

Contra Costa County will be the oil, gas and chemical industries. The background of the booth will feature the pleistocene age when giant dinosaurs roamed the earth and then died off to become the basic supply for today's oil industry. Nettles has constructed a nine by six foot stegosaurus, smoking volcanoes and authentic trees and shrubs of the dinosaur era. In the foreground of the walk-in display will be present day equipment of the oil, gas and chemical industries, including a working model of an oil rig and an operating distillation unit in miniature. The booth in the Pacific Southwest Exposition at Pomona will be installed in cooperation with the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, utilizing as a base the county's attractions for heavy display used at the recent Space Age Exposition in San Francisco. ## Development Association Names New Chairman

Jack O. Fries of Martinez has been reappointed chairman of the Contra Costa County Development Association's important New Industries Committee, according to J. M. Gill, president.

Gill also appointed Jack M. Miller, manager of the Crown-Zellerbach Corporation's plant at Antioch, as chairman of the newly constituted Industrial Problems Committee.

Capt. E. B. Mott, USN retired, of Pacheco will head the Commercial Development Committee and V. A. Fink will again serve as chairman of the organization's Airport Committee.

Gill said other committee assignments will be announced later as replies are received from a questionnaire mailed to the organization's 63 directors asking them to express committee preferences.

The New Industries Committee is charged with directing a continuing campaign to obtain new industrial investment for Contra Costa County, while the Commercial Development Committee's principal function is to cooperate with Chambers of Commerce, Realty Boards and other organizations in promoting the county's commercial interests.

Social Security Sets Deadline On Pay Reports

Families that employ household workers such as maids, cooks, gardeners, and babysitters are reminded that Monday is the deadline for filing quarterly reports with the District Director of Internal Revenue.

According to Morgan J. Shea, Berkeley Social Security manager, the earnings of household employees who received total cash wages of $50 or more in April through June must be reported.

Shea said the Berkeley Social Security Office, 1990 Addison Street, has leaflets explaining how Social Security covers household workers and how their earnings should be reported.

'HMS Pinafore' Boasts a First On West Coast

The performance of "HMS Pinafore" at San Francisco's War Memorial Opera House is a West Coast first. Presented as the original command performance before Her Majesty the Queen inaugurating the King George Jubilee Year, the opera will play from July 30 to August 4.

Performed by leading artists of the Commonwealth, the opera was unanimously acclaimed by London critics. The satirical operetta is under the direction of Sir Tyrone Guthrie, builder of the Old Vic-Sadlers Wells.

The True Bargain
When shopping for a Used Car Perfection you'll not find Because they're built by human hands And not someone divine.

Price seems to be the main concern Of most folks that I meet Beware, my friend, of bargains They're no better than your feet.

My favorite expression I'm sure that you'll agree The only bargain that's worthwhile Is when there's quality.

Summertime Is Lazy Time for Green Thumbers

For California gardeners, the good old summertime is a lazy time of the year. It is a season to enjoy that which has already been wrought or to rue that which might have been.

The wise gardener, however, is not completely content with resting on his laurels. He knows that certain calls to duty should be answered if his garden is to offer continued enjoyment.

THESE ARE largely in the line of maintenance, but not entirely. Late summer and fall color can be planted now, as can certain trees and shrubs which actually prefer midsummer planting to any other.

Water is the one most important thing to attend to. Given water, any garden can be made to look fresh, even if color is lacking. It's so easy to let an extra day or two go by between waterings that every gardener should follow in a regular schedule.

WATERING, AFTER all, is a relatively simple matter, especially with the assorted accessories which any California Association of Nurserymen member has to offer.

Also in the maintenance line, the matter of neatness is a top contributor to garden enjoyment. Just as a messy house lacks charm, so the ragged garden is less easy to relax in. Hoe down faded foliage of spring-blooming bulbs, uproot faded annuals and, of course, get rid of weeds. In place of these, plant the heat-loving bedders for late summer and fall color. In the bedding plant line, salvia is good. So, too, is cockscomb, verbena, zinnia and marigold. Dwarf dahlias are quick-color shots in the arm, and petunias can still be counted on for plenty of bloom.

CROWDED clumps of bearded iris may be lifted and divided, and new varieties may be obtained in the nursery for planting this month.

Give them a sun-drenched spot and work up a deep bed, with steer manure down under for the roots to anchor in. Keep new iris plantings watered until they are well established.

Place your ad right now by calling YE 4-5000, 284-4444 or CL 4-4444.

Your Garden
Trees Add Splendor to Central County Homes

In an age when most subdivisions think small, the use of towering tree specimens is less a common practice, yet the simple fact remains that nothing lends more beauty to our landscapes.

Trees on a grand scale add stature and permanence to a neighborhood. They are landmarks of our skyline, and many's the new development whose finest attraction is a venerable specimen of oak or eucalyptus which the bulldozers have mercifully bypassed.

LARGE TREES are especially desirable when summer temperatures mount. Any roadway which is lined with a canopy of branches seems an oasis to the summer traveler. Likewise, the backyard which shades its occupants from high-summer sun can be the most pleasant one.

Perhaps the grandest of grand-scale trees which is suitable for most home grounds is the evergreen southern magnolia. California Association of Nurserymen members offer two versions of this—the regular size and a smaller size, otherwise known as the St. Mary's magnolia.

BOTH FEATURE the gigantic white blossoms, the large glossy leaves, and the opulence that only magnolias can offer. Yet, the newer St. Mary's variety is essentially a small to medium tree (albeit an excellent one) and only the southern magnolia will grow in time to that singular magnificence poets have praised.

It is claimed for southern magnolia in its native states that the fragrant white flowers are up to six or eight inches across. Here in California the latter dimension is more common, and even larger blossoms are to be found. Blooms of the St. Mary's magnolia are not uncommonly a foot in diameter.

SOUTHERN MAGNOLIA is slow to start, but gains size in a hurry once it has settled down to business. In selecting specimens at CAN nurseries, remember that years of growth can be saved by choosing the larger trees. Give the magnolias a deep, well-drained soil and don't crowd buildings with them. Older specimens can be shaped by pruning.

Cane Berry Brings Joy To Yards

Cane berries are much less of a tangle to grow than many people think. If you have an old planting which has been trained on a trellis, simply cut back all the old canes which have already borne fruit and remove them from the trellis. Then loosely wind the new growth (which is probably flopping on the ground) around the trellis.

These canes will bear next year's crop and then be removed in their own turn to make way for next year's growth.

Mums Are Soon To Bloom Again

The first chrysanthemum blooms—not counting those merry cushion mums which seem to bloom forever—will be coming our way next month, and now is no time to neglect them.

Proper care consists of continuing a regular watering and feeding program, plus pinching out unwanted buds.

Some gardeners consider that all buds are wanted, but shrill-anthemums have the tendency to overproduce.

Weak side buds and overcrowded clusters would be thinned out. They add little if left on the plants and detract from it in the long run by reducing the average size of blooms that are left. Plants should be securely staked and tied, too, so that the weight of the blooms doesn't topple them in disarray.
